GOP May Replace Most Of $17½ Million Cuts

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—Vote-conscious Republicans may replace most of that 17½ million dollars they cut from Gov. Harriman's budget yesterday.

The money represents new forms of aid for New York city, always a vulnerable item when GOP lawmakers trot out the budget axe.

But this is a mayoral election year in the Democratic-controlled metropolis, and more than one New York city Republican is known to feel that a little kindness in February may go a long way in November.

The key item in the 17½ million recommended by Harriman is a 10-million rebate of motor vehicle fees collected in the city. Mayor Robert F. Wagner says the city can repeal its "nuisance" auto-use tax if the money is allowed.

Temporarily Cut

The chairman of the Legislature's fiscal committee announced yesterday that the 17½ million requested by the Democratic governor had been "temporarily deleted" pending a conference of GOP legislators from the city.

On other legislative fronts last night:

1. The Senate voted—over scattered Republican protests—to submit to the voters next fall a proposed constitutional amendment that would legalize bingo on a local-option basis. The Assembly is expected to approve also.
2. A well-informed GOP source said the Republicans would offer a compromise "program" bill fixing ceilings for finance charges on installment purchases.

Meeting Scheduled

The meeting of New York city Republican lawmakers is slated for late this week or early next week, probably in the city. Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, who is from Manhattan, is to sit in.

Use of the word "temporarily" in the GOP announcement bolstered Democratic hopes that at least the 10 million in motor vehicle fees might be restored, perhaps in the supplemental budget.

There was speculation that the Republicans might be using the "temporary" cut as a device to point up the source of any extra aid that might be granted.

Story Due Soon

The Republicans are expected to reveal later this week the total amount of the cut they will

All But 28 Bodies Found In Nursing Home Debris

Warrenton, Mo., Feb. 19 (AP)—Searchers dug into debris again today for more bodies of the 71 aged and infirm who perished in a swift and still puzzling fire.

Before darkness halted them yesterday, search crews extracted forty-three charred and unidentifiable bodies from the rubble of the Katie Jane Memorial Home.

Saddened relatives watched the crews proceed at a pick-and-shovel pace in the grim probing for the other 28 bodies.

The fire was possibly the worst in Missouri history from the standpoint of fatalities. The National Fire Protection Assn. said it was the worst nursing home fire in the country's history, surpassing 33 deaths in a fire near Leno, Mo., March 29, 1953.

Capt. C. R. Oliver of the State Highway Patrol listed three possible causes of the fire which 84 inmates escaped jumping, being

Over $3 Million Job Goes to IBM

Dayton, Ohio, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Air Materiel Command at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base here announced today a $3,100,000 contract award to International Business Machines Corp. of New York for improving and testing an aircraft bombing-navigation system.

Another contract award, for $2,727,517, went to the Sperry Gyroscope Co. of Great Neck, N. Y., for a radar set.

Ike Is Flying Back for Parley On Middle East

Thomasville, Ga., Feb. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower flies back to Washington today to deal at closer range in new conferences with the tough problem of getting Israeli troops out of disputed territory.

Reportedly much concerned about the Mideast stalemate, the President decided late yesterday to cut short his south Georgia vacation and return to the capital. He had planned until then, the White House said, to stay here until Friday.

Due At 3 P. M.

Eisenhower arranged to leave the plantation estate of his host, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, in the late morning and drive to Spence Airfield at Moultrie, Ga., 35 miles north. Take-off aboard his private plane was scheduled for about noon (EST). Eisenhower was expected to arrive in Washington about 3 p. m.

The President set up a White House conference with Secretary of State Dulles as the first order of business on his return. They planned a fresh evaluation of the Mideast situation.

To Meet Leaders

Tomorrow morning Eisenhower will meet with Democratic and Republican congressional leaders for a full scale review of the entire Middle East picture.

45,000 Are Kept Idle By Issues Spokesmen Unable To Forecast End

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Forty-five thousand striking dockworkers from Maine to Virginia remained idle today as disputes over contracts in Baltimore and Norfolk prevented a general back-to-work movement.

Union spokesmen were unable to predict an end to the costly pier tieup, now in its seventh day. The port-to-port situation was confused.

William V. Bradley, president of the International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind.), appeared determined to withhold any general work resumption until contract agreements were reached in all ports from Portland, Maine, to Hampton Roads, Va.

Return Conditional

Last night Bradley made a return to work today at 8 a. m. (EST) conditional on settlement of local contracts in Philadelphia, Baltimore and Norfolk by last midnight.

Agreements were not reached in either Baltimore or Norfolk, although a contract was hammered out early today in Philadelphia, a few hours after Bradley's deadline hour had expired. The Philadelphia pact covered 6,000 longshoremen. Federal Mediator John R. Murray said he expected them back on the docks either tomorrow or Thursday. He said complete agreement had been reached on "all major local and national issues."

May Reject Terms

In Baltimore, ILLA representatives of the port's 7,400 longshoremen meet today with the Steamship Trade Assn. The employer group is expected to announce officially its rejection of contract terms negotiated Sunday night between the ILLA and the New York Shipping Assn.

A Trade Association spokesman said yesterday Baltimore employers would not increase their offer of welfare payments, permit an escalator clause on wages, accept a fifth paid holiday or go along with coastwise bargaining.

The New York agreement had been expected to set the pattern for all contracts in ports on the northeast coast and end the walkout. The agreement provided a basic coastwise settlement on wages and fringe benefits, leaving local ports to settle strictly local issues.

At Norfolk, employers and

O-W Here Is Not in Aid Plan

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Federal court receivers of the bankrupt New York Ontario & Western railway have indicated they plan to abandon a losing portion of the line to save money.

This word came at a court hearing as the freight line got a new nine-day lease on life. Terms of the reprieve from liquidation including the raising an additional $43,500 for an emergency operating fund.

To Abandon Parts

The receivers indicated yesterday that they planned to abandon all or part of the system serving Port Jervis, Monticello, Summitville, Ellenville and Kingston, N. Y.

This part of the NYO&W system consists of branch lines formerly known as the Port Jervis, Monticello & Summitville Railroad Co. and the Ellenville & Kingston Railroad Co., the receivers noted.

The receivers, James B. Kilsheimer III and Jacob Grumet, said they would reveal their curtailment and money saving plans at a federal court hearing a week from tomorrow.

Still Runs in Red

At yesterday's hearing, the receivers told Judge Sylvester J. Ryan that they had reduced operating losses at the rate of $30,000 a month during the 10 days they had been in control, but that the railroad still was running in the red at the rate of nearly $100,000 a month.

Kilsheimer reported that traffic on the railroad was showing an "encouraging" upward trend, but still was not "free of clouds."

About 50 lawyers and representatives of a fund-raising committee were in court when Kilsheimer said recommendations would be made next week Wednesday concerning the section of the NYO&W serving Port Jervis, Monticello, Summitville, Ellenville and Kingston.

Judge Comments

The judge commented: "The receivers apparently feel this portion of the line should be discontinued."

To this Kilsheimer replied: "Some of it—perhaps not all of it."

Kilsheimer reported that funds raised so far to keep the railroad operating temporarily had reached about $206,560.

Ryan originally had given the receivers until last Wednesday to raise $250,000 from various

Woman Missing for 13 Days Shows Up in Hijack Case

A Bronx woman, reportedly afraid to testify as a government witness in a $20,000 hijacking case in which a Highland man is involved, surrendered to authorities Monday after a 13-day absence.

According to the Associated Press, Mrs. Marguerite Schaeffer, 50, was accompanied by her attorney when she appeared at the U. S. Court House in New York city. Later, she was ordered held in $10,000 bond as a material witness.

She had been scheduled to testify in the trial of four men accused of hijacking a trailer load of hair tonic Oct. 8. The FBI found the stolen tonic in Mrs. Schaeffer's basement.

The government said it had evidence that she refused to testify because of threatening telephone calls she received. Court attaches said she "became tired of hiding" and decided to surrender.

Accused of the hijacking are Sam Perrone, 27, Brooklyn; John A. Pagano, 31, the Bronx; Joseph De Vivo, 37, Manhattan, and Anthony J. Popenza, 37, Highland, N. Y.

A warrant for Mrs. Schaeffer was issued Feb. 7 when a mistrial was declared. One defendant said he was dissatisfied with his attorney.

DERAILMENT BLOCKS LINE—Derailed in the second accident in nine days on the New York Central's electronically controlled line, termed the safest in the world, 27 freight cars lie strewn along the right of way at Erie, Pa. Rail officials reported no injuries but estimated damage would climb above $100,000. The derailment, on the western approaches to Union Station, blocked the Central's main East-West line. ### Dutchess Speakers Say—

Mental Clinics Avert Suffering, Save Taxes

The potential for immense savings in money and human beings through a mental health program of treatment and prevention were cited by speakers from the Dutchess County Mental Health Committee at a meeting Monday sponsored by the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies.

Visiting speakers were Richard Russell, a Poughkeepsie attorney who is a member of the Dutchess County Mental Health Committee, and Royce McWhater, psychiatric social worker with the mental health clinic in that county.

Speaking at a noon luncheon meeting in the First Baptist Church, Mr. Russell called attention to the losses to the community in terms of money and "citizen functioning" as the result of mental illness.

Cites Importance

He pointed out that the biggest item in the New York state budget is for the construction and maintenance of mental institutions. In 1954 the legislature passed a 350 million dollar bond issue for such institutions "to house sick people."

He called attention to a national expenditure of 20 billion dollars a year for criminal detection and housing, pointing out that crime is closely related to mental illness and maladjustments in our society.

Situation Serious

Mr. Russell said that it had been encouraging to see in the past several years that the people of the state were becoming keenly aware of the seriousness of the situation and that last year more mentally ill patients were discharged in this state than were taken in—the first time in the history of civilization that this has occurred.

Mr. Russell pointed out that we have exploited a virgin country "to the nth degree" along scientific and material lines but have lagged in our work in mental health fields.

He said that a physical disease was visible to the eye whereas individual motivation and strain is less apparent. Much crime and juvenile delinquency could be prevented with mental health apparatus, meaning an immense saving of "money and human suffering," he told the group.

Dutchess Had Problem

He explained that community costs rise in the form of taxation to meet the burden of mental

County Building Land Site to Be Checked by Group

Jesse McHugh of Walkill, chairman of the board of supervisors special committee on county building, had called a meeting of that committee for Thursday at 2 o'clock at which time the committee will visit the proposed site for a county building on the Boulevard.

Accompanying the committee will be Harry Halverson, architect, who has prepared preliminary plans for the proposed county building which will house the various county departments under one roof.

Near TB Hospital

A county building was proposed under the Post-War Planning program several years ago and at that time it was proposed to erect a building on the site of the former Eagle Hotel. However, traffic and parking problems have since arisen making the site impracticable. The present plan is to erect a building on land now owned by the county adjacent to the tuberculosis hospital.

Chairman McHugh said today the committee will visit the site and go over the grounds Thursday and examine the proposed plans. Heads of departments will also be consulted as to changes in plans and suggestions for such changes and alterations as may be beneficial to these departments will be given consideration

Ellenville Man Is Fined $500 on Perjury Charge

Thomas Shelby, 56, a native of Danville, Ky., and a former part time police officer in the village of Ellenville, was fined $500 or one day in jail for each $2 of the fine unpaid, when he faced County Judge Louis G. Bruhn Monday afternoon in County Court. Imposition of sentence on two other counts of an indictment was suspended and Shelby was placed on probation. Bail was exonerated.

Shelby was indicted for perjury, first degree, maintaining a gambling place and illegal sale of liquor. He entered a plea of guilty to perjury, second degree, and the other two counts of the

Says U.S. Won't Send Lead Ship Does Not Foresee Blockade Attempt

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today he expects American ships will go through the Gulf of Aqaba without being stopped by the Egyptians.

He also told a news conference that Israel has the right to send the vessels into this gulf if they are engaged in what he called innocent passage.

Declines Answer

Dulles declined to answer when asked whether the United States, if necessary, would shoot its way through the gulf which Egyptian gun emplacements controlled until Israeli forces seized the gun sites last fall.

In reply to questions, Dulles said he has no specific assurance from Egypt that it will end the blockade of Israeli shipping which it imposed some seven years ago.

Dulles declined to answer when asked directly whether the United States would favor economic sanctions against Israel if the Israeli government refuses to withdraw its forces from Aqaba and the Gaza Strip.

Dulles said, however, that when the Suez Canal is reopened Israeli ships, like those of any other country, should be allowed to pass through.

Barred Since 1949

The Egyptian government has barred Israeli ships from the canal since 1949.

Dulles said he would very much deplore any move by Egypt at this stage to slow down clearing the canal of ships sunk during the British-French-Israeli invasion.

While Dulles said he expects American ships to be allowed into the Gulf of Aqaba, he indicated that this country will not take the lead in sending a ship into this area to establish the principle that it is an international waterway.

Dulles reiterated his hope that Israel would reconsider its refusal to withdraw troops from Aqaba and Gaza. This government is not without hope on this point, he said, because discussions with Israel have not definitely ended.

Dulles said this government has no present plans for laying any specific new proposals before the United Nations to end the deadlock with Israel on the troop problem.

But he said the United States may go to the United Nations with a program, depending on the results of talks President Eisenhower holds tomorrow with Democratic and Republican congressional leaders at the White House.

Other Problems

Dulles made these points in answering questions about other international problems:

1. It is premature, to say the least, to begin thinking in terms of granting diplomatic recognition to Red China. Dulles made this comment when asked about remarks by Chairman Green (D-R. I.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee who said yesterday such recognition eventually would have to be granted.

Told that Green favored such a course "eventually," Dulles said no one was talking in terms of eternity.

2. A move to tighten trade controls on shipments to the Soviet-European bloc is being considered by allied governments as well as a tightening of ex-indictment as charged. The perjury charge arose out of his application for a pistol permit, when he allegedly said he had no prior conflict with the law.

Robert Stapleton, attorney for Shelby, said the perjury charge was of a technical nature as were the other two charges. Shelby has a large home and entertains his friends at cards and serves refreshments. There was no intent to violate the law and Stapleton said the violation had been of a technical nature. All three charges were misdemeanors. He entered a plea of guilty only to the third count of the indictment and the other

Proclaims Friday Muster Day for National Guard

National Guard Muster Day was proclaimed by Mayor Frederick H. Stang as Friday, Feb. 22, George Washington's birthday.

The proclamation was in conjunction with the current recruiting drive of the local 156th Field Artillery Battalion with headquarters at the armory on Manor avenue.

Hold All-Day Drills
Members of the 156th participated in an all-day weekend drill Sunday at headquarters on Manor avenue.

Equipment was checked and inspected, from the individual weapons to the 40-ton 8-inch howitzer and from the soldier's boots to the field tentage and 5-ton trucks, and from the message center to the vehicular long-range radios. A well-balanced plentiful noon "chow" was served and church services were conducted.

Joining the inspection team for a part of the day was Mayor Stang.

Many Witness Training
Many interested citizens visited the armory and watched the men in training. Another opportunity will be afforded the public on Washington's Birthday when the battalion will hold an open house all day and evening.

Eligible young men and their parents are most cordially invited to visit the Guard units and get the facts about service in the nation's first line reserve. These young men are urged to join the National Guard before the drive ends in order to take full advantage of the opportunities afforded under its present program.

Speeder Pays $20 Fine In City Court Today

A man charged with speeding paid a fine of $20 in city court this morning and three other cases were adjourned.

Paying the fine was Davis Manello, 32, of 18 Hoyt street, Port Ewen, who was arrested on Broadway near Field Court at 11:10 p. m. Monday by Officers Gilbert Gray and Harry Tempealar who charged him with speeding 56 MPH.

The cases of two local men arrested Monday for alleged violation of the state labor law on charges dealing with unlawful collection of unemployment checks, was adjourned until Wednesday by City Judge Raymond Mingo.

Richard Bullock, 27, of 29 East Union street, was arrested by Officers George Dougherty and Charles McCullough, and Mayo Nixon, 51, of 7 Canal street, was booked at police headquarters by Sgt. Grover S. Hoffay. Bail was fixed at $50 for Bullock and Nixon was paroled for the hearing because he appeared of his own volition.

Kenneth Jones, 51, of 71 Greenlark avenue, who was arrested Saturday night on a charge of driving while intoxicated after an accident at Abruy street and Delaware avenue, had his case adjourned until early March.

Jones was arrested by Officers Thomas McGrane and Anthony Turk after his car allegedly struck a car owned by Henry Filamuit of Converse street while it was parked near 93 Abruy street early Saturday night.

GOP Seeks Action on N.Y. Housing

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—Republican lawmakers today called on Gov. Harriman to force Mayor Robert F. Wagner to correct "shocking violations of health, sanitary and safety regulations" in low-rent housing in New York city.

Sen. MacNeil Mitchell and Assemblyman John R. Brook of Manhattan introduced a joint resolution demanding swift action.

Came After Tour

The resolution stemmed from Harriman's tour Sunday of low-rent units in New York city, New Rochelle and Glen Cove.

At a tiny two-room Harlem apartment occupied by a widow and her five children, he found the rent was $80 a month. He called this "outrageous."

Mitchell and Brook declared in a statement: "We share the governor's shock at the unbelievable overcrowding and squalor in the slum-area apartments he inspected."

"We are equally shocked that the governor was content to focus the spotlight of publicity without calling upon Mayor Wagner and the mayors of New Rochelle and Glen Cove to order an immediate crack-down on the shocking violations of health, sanitary and safety regulations in all three municipalities."

Committee Seeks New Source for GI Home Funds

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—The House Veterans Committee looked to government sources today for GI home mortgage funds after refusing to raise the interest rate on veterans' loans to 5 per cent.

Overriding administration requests for the higher interest rate, the committee voted yesterday to continue the present 4½ per cent rate and find other ways to provide GI home financing.

May Use Reserves

As one alternative, committee members turned to a study of proposals to authorize use of up to one billion dollars of National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) reserves held in trust for GI wartime policy holders. The NSLI trust fund now approximates six billion dollars.

As the committee began closed-door consideration of the NSLI proposals, chairman Teague (D-Tex.) predicted favorable action. He told reporters that "some kind of a bill will be reported out."

Yesterday's action on the GI interest rate came as the committee approved a bill authorizing an additional 150 million dollars for direct home loans to veterans in rural and small town areas where financing is not readily available. This bill also would provide for advance commitments to builders for government financing.

Long-Lasting Siding

Wood siding, when properly protected and used as exterior covering for a home, will wear down only about 1-32nd inch in 100 years, according to wood research specialists. Some woods, like western red cedar, when used as home siding and untreated with paints or varnishes, will last for decades without appreciable wear.

Sink Under Window

Whenever possible, the kitchen sink should be installed under a window. This not only improves lighting at the busiest point in the kitchen during the daytime but it also frees precious wall space for additional storage cabinets and built-ins.

Using Electric Waxer

When you use an electric floor waxer, don't press down. The weight of the waxer is sufficient to produce a good job. And by the way, allow the wax to dry on the floor for about 30 minutes before you start polishing.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—The stock market extended its losses slightly this afternoon in dull trading.

Pivotal issues were down from fractions to around a point. A few losses were wider.

The market was irregular at the opening but a tendency toward the downside grew more pronounced and shifted the balance definitely lower.

Wall street observers noted no unusual selling pressure and said the market was continuing its minor moves in a readjustment after last week's sharp fall and rise.

The newest price cut in copper as well as some dispiriting corporate news were factors tending to discourage buying.

On the American Stock Exchange change prices were mixed in slow trading.

Corporate bonds were irregular in quiet trading.

U. S. Government bonds rallied in light dealings.

4 Children Die In Farm Blaze

Salem, Ohio, Feb. 19 (AP)—Four children burned to death today in a fire at a big, old farm house at Kuyper's Landing on Guilford Lake, about 10 miles south of here.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Dencil Anderson—Martha, 12; Edward, 5; Cathy, 3 and Alma, 1—were trapped by the fire that raced through the 13-room, 85-year-old house.

The parents saved another child, Ansel, 10.

Aaron Cutler, 22, Mrs. Anderson's brother, jumped from a second floor window and broke his leg. Vaughn Anderson, Dencil's brother, also jumped and injured his back.

Assumed Others Safe

A neighbor, Mrs. Dawn I. Irey, said the blaze started when Mrs. Anderson threw kerosene in a coal stove to start it.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson ran to the children's rooms, but found only Ansel in bed. They took Ansel outside, assuming that the other children had got out by themselves.

When they did not find the others outside, the parents tried to re-enter the house, but were prevented by flames and smoke. The family rented the house, a quarter of a mile from Mrs. Irey's residence.

Indictment Dismissed On Legal Defect

An indictment charging violation of the Alcoholic Beverage Law by Vera Skuhra of Rifton, was dismissed this morning by County Judge Louis G. Bruhn, on motion of Charles Saccoman, counsel for defendant.

The motion was made on the grounds of a legal defect in the bill. Judge Bruhn dismissed the indictment and the case will be resubmitted to the Grand Jury in March.

The case had been moved for trial today by the prosecution. The burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry charge against Edward J. Feeney was postponed until Wednesday at 10 a. m.

John F. Stewart Jr., charged with grand larceny, first degree, had his case moved to chambers when he asked to be treated under the Youthful Offender Law. He is 18. The indictment was ordered sealed.

District Attorney Howard C. St. John moved next for trial the indictment charging Booker T. Johnson, 37, with robbery, first degree, and assault, second degree. Johnson is charged with having taken $7 from a friend, Stanley Krauskas, 40, a tree pruner on the Andola farm at Milton on January 6. Johnson was arrested in Poughkeepsie shortly after by Poughkeepsie police and returned to Ulster county.

Jersey Police Are Asked to Make Check

Swanquarter, N. C., Feb. 19 (AP)—North Carolina authorities say they have asked New Jersey state police to check into the reported reappearance of a dark-haired nurse who disappeared on a foggy night Feb. 9 from a yacht anchored near Ocracoke.

Sheriff C. J. Cahoon said Sunday night he was told by a sister of the nurse, that the missing woman had called her by telephone from Florida, but another sister declared that the call may have been a hoax.

Coast Guard and civilian agencies searched sea and shore for several days last week for some trace of Mrs. Mary Ann Scales, 33, of Trenton, N. J. She disappeared mysteriously from the yacht of her employer, Dr. James T. Dodge, 46-year-old general practitioner of Trenton.

The two, both estranged from their spouses, had been cruising for about a week in southern waters. Dr. Dodge said he had retired about 8 p. m. The night of Feb. 9 leaving Mrs. Scales on deck. The next morning he told officers, she was not aboard. He suggested rough water might have pitched her overboard.

Dr. Dodge was allowed to return home after the search was officially ended.

Mr. Myburgh reportedly suffered chest injuries and possible rib fractures.

Mr. Myburgh was pushing a bicycle up a hill when he was struck by a Dairyman's League milk truck which was proceeding south. The right front fender of the truck struck him, knocking him to the ground, according to the Ulster county sheriff's office which investigated.

Woman Attorney Ties Van Doren; Prize Now $143,000

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Charles Van Doren boosted his television quiz show winnings last night to $143,000 but met his match in a woman attorney from Manhattan.

The 30-year-old woman lawyer, Mrs. Vivienne Nearing, matched Van Doren point-for-point by answering two difficult multipoint questions. It prevented Van Doren from increasing his winnings further.

Van Doren, a Columbia University instructor, picked up another $5,000 on NBC's "Twenty-One" show by earlier defeating a veteran magazine editor, Kenneth Gould of Scarsdale, N. Y. Van Doren entered the night's competition with winnings of $138,000.

Mrs. Nearing and Van Doren return next week to continue their battle with the usual $500-a-point winning total upped to $1,000.

Small Merchant Has Toughest Existence

Utica, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—The small-business owner "has the toughest, loneliest managerial job in American business," a state commerce department official said today.

William D. Carlebach, first deputy commissioner, spoke to a luncheon of the Utica Small Business Workshop. He outlined the technical assistance available under the state's Small Business Assistance program. He said small businesses often operate without technical counsel available to corporations.

Carlebach, in a prepared text, said effective competition means "stripping the gingerbread" from business operations and "scrapping the comfortable, but time-worn, ways of doing business that hobble many small enterprises today."

The prime minister has been ill since Jan. 25. His doctors said his temperature is below normal and one lung is still congested.

McCarthy Will Fight Brennan, Zwicker

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) made plans today to fight the nomination of Supreme Court Justice William J. Brennan Jr. and the promotion of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker.

The senator said his efforts may take him before two senate committees within a week.

McCarthy said he already has been promised permission to testify before the Armed Services Committee against Zwicker, an old adversary in the Army-McCarthy hearings, whom President Eisenhower has nominated for promotion to the temporary rank of major general.

McCarthy said he has asked Chairman Eastland (D-Miss.) for permission to sit with the Judiciary Committee and quiz Brennan about statements he contends Brennan has made concerning "committees which expose Communists." The Wisconsin Senator said he understands it would be up to the full committee to decide whether this should be allowed.

He said he wants to ask Brennan "how he reconciles his general opposition to communism with his back fence sniping at those who expose individual Communists."

McCarthy had announced previously he would oppose confirmation of Brennan, but without much hope of blocking it.

Standards Of Living Going Up

With U. S. national income at an all-time peak, employment figures steadily maintained at the highest level in the history of this country, and savings deposits swelling, economic experts anticipate that 1957 will see a dramatic acceleration in the current, strong upward trend of American standards of living.

The increased leisure made available by the shorter working hours now prevalent in most fields of industry and business acts as a further spur to families to lift the level of their planning with a view to giving new scope and pace to their lives.

The trend toward better living embraces families in every walk of life and is reflected in every phase of their living, from housing to apparel and from automobiles to sports and hobby equipment. In the sweep of this movement, many of the so-called luxuries of yesterday are fast taking on the guise of necessities for the average.

Today's increased "on family life," as "together" the home we projects will un-view living.

THE COST OF SUPPORTS

Lots of times we hear figures on the staggering total cost of the government's farm price support program.

It is not all dead loss, since the government of course in many cases realizes considerable return from disposal of surpluses. But there is loss. In recent times it has been heavy.

The Commodity Credit Corporation, which manages the support program, says that in the past four years — a time of largely sagging farm prices — the government has lost $2,894,000,000.

That compares with $1,111,000,000 lost in the 20 years before that — a period of generally rising farm prices stimulated by war and early postwar demand.

This healthy chunk of four billion dollars, a contribution of American taxpayers to the well-being of this nation's farmers, is in fact not the full loss sustained from support operations.

Not included are the costs of farmers' direct subsidy payments, of export subsidies on crops sold abroad at reduced prices, and on purchase and disposal of surpluses by agencies other than the C.C.C.

It's quite a load to bear. And the odd thing is that the very farmers who benefit give back some of their gains in the form of the taxes needed to foot the bill.

The farmers no less than the rest of us should look forward to the day when mountainous surpluses are merely a painful memory and other more sensible means have been found to keep them going at reasonable levels.

WELL-PLACED GIFT

Ohio Northern University at Ada, Ohio, is not one of the country's large institutions of higher learning, but in some respects it may be regarded as one of the best. This regard is justified by the caliber of its graduates, many of whom have achieved outstanding success.

Now Ohio Northern wears a special mark of distinction as the result of a $25,000 gift from the American College Fund, the Fund's first "qualified advancement grant" to help non-accredited colleges. It probably will be used for the liberal arts college, which is the only one of four at Ohio Northern not accredited.

This may be an opening step in a movement to give more financial aid to non-accredited colleges, many of which are deserving. Such a movement would help to ease the pressure of the swiftly rising college population on larger institutions.

WITH ONE ARROW?

Texans have often been accused of talking big. True or not, there is new evidence that they think big. A Texas oil man named William Negley has wagered $1,000 against $10,000 that he can bag an elephant with a bow and arrow.

The most striking thing about the whole affair is that Negley is going to the Belgian Congo to hunt the wily pachyderm. Imagine two Texans publicly admitting that Africa has something bigger than Texas can provide!

A member of the Maine legislature recently recalled that 50 years ago 121 out of 151 members of that body had moustaches or beards. Today's politicians may not be as distinguished looking, but at least they can kiss a baby without tickling the child to tears.

It is rumored that our State Department may soon decide against further grants of money to foreign powers. Instead the State Department will arrange for representatives of deserving countries to become contestants on some of our quiz programs.

New iron gates have been installed at the Palace of Versailles to replace the originals melted down to make cannonballs during the French revolution. Is it safe to consider this as evidence that France has no further need for cannonballs?

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THOSE AMERICAN COMMUNISTS

For four days, the officials of the American Communist Party met to discuss themselves. It was not a convention in the sense that delegates were selected by the rank-and-file. Actually the persons present were party functionaries, the 300 upper crust of the 20,000 who were willing to risk themselves by a public appearance on the party rolls.

Usually, Communists are disciplined people who jump to the master's whistle. But the master is dead and so the American Communist Party split into three factions which reflect the split in the Communist world. The reactionary faction was led by William Z. Foster, a hard-bitten man, 76 years old, who has found heaven in the Kremlin and wants it to stay that way. To Foster, it matters little that the Twentieth Congress downgraded Stalin or that Khrushchev denounced Stalin's anti-Semitism while proclaiming his own, or that Soviet Russia displayed shameless imperialism in Hungary and Poland. Nor does it matter to him that Soviet Russia is the open, fierce, and uncompromising enemy of the United States.

The second faction was led by John Gates, editor of the "Daily Worker," who seeks freedom from the Kremlin. Gates seems to be impressed with Titoism, although he risked being accused of Browderism which is a fate worse than death. Before the convention, it looked as though the Gates faction stood some chance of winning and if they did win, the name Communist Party, would go out of existence and the Communist Political Association would take its place. Also the American Party would cut loose from the Kremlin's absolute authority and would come closer to Tito.

However, a communication came from Jacques Duclos, the French Communist, giving the American party what for and other Communist parties throughout the world called for solidarity. So solidarity won the day.

There was a middle group which sought a compromise between Foster and Gates and which advocated talking about freedom from the Kremlin but living in solidarity with the socialist fatherland. This group won the convention and so, after four days, during which the speeches went round and round, it all came out where it started. The Executive Committee of 20 which will run the party, consists of about the same people as before except for those who are in prison.

The plan to move the Communist headquarters to Chicago has much to do with the fact that too large a part of the remaining membership of the party is concentrated in metropolitan New York and is affected by non-Marxist issues such as Stalin's anti-Semitism, Khrushchev's anti-Semitism, the fate of Israel, etc.

From Chicago, the Communist Party will concentrate upon rebuilding its membership out of three elements, the Negroes, labor and the farmers. It is interesting that the person who received the largest number of votes for the Executive Committee was a Negro from California.

It is also to be expected that the American Communist Party will be more adequately financed than in the recent past. The real threat that appeared before the convention was that Soviet Russia might lose the apparatus for espionage and agitation which the American Party afforded. Now, the Communist Party is to be revived and is to enter upon an active membership recruiting campaign.

Had Gate's plans been adopted, it is possible that it might have been increasingly difficult to get ivory-tower judges to understand that the Smith Act still applied because the treason continued. Foster, however, could ignore the danger of prison, as he had been saved from trial and sentence on account of his bad heart. So, the party goes on as usual and the Smith Act still applies.

The present tendency is to say that the American Communist Party is very small and does not matter. It remains an extremely effective group for disturbance and nuisance. It reaches out into all sorts of circles. If you wish to see how effectively it functions, read carefully the names on the petitions in favor of Morton Sobell, the atom spy now in prison. That list of names is a ready index to the mobilizing capacity of the party and Communist Party. The effectiveness of the party in such agitational activities cannot be ignored and is not being ignored by those who need to understand Communist within the United States. ## That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
THE COSTS OF MEDICAL CARE

When an important new medical discovery is made, word spreads swiftly across the country and around the world. Soon doctors everywhere are giving their patients the benefit of the new knowledge or technique. This free flow of medical intelligence is unlike anything else in our society. A new discovery in military science, for example, must remain a closely guarded secret to protect the national security. Industry's new developments are quickly patented for the benefit of particular groups of shareholders. But the surgeon in New York or Boston or London, say, who develops a new operation or a new instrument, eagerly invites his colleagues in to observe it and, if they can, improve it. At the same time, he describes his procedure in detail in the medical literature—always carefully pointing out its shortcomings and hazards as well as its benefits.

In Public Affairs Pamphlet "Meeting the Costs of Medical Care" we are told that, unfortunately, the rate at which new discoveries have been made in medicine and the freedom with which these discoveries become available for use by doctors everywhere have added problems in medical science. The constantly growing complexity of medicine has made medical care increasingly expensive. Diagnosis today is far more exact than it was even 20 years ago, but it often requires many expensive laboratory tests.

Many modern treatments also are costly. The problem is not simply that doctors' fees, like everything else, have gone up. Actually, doctors have been slow to increase the size of their fees. While the cost of living increased by 86 per cent from 1939 to 1951, physicians' and surgeons' fees went up only 45 per cent.

To make the situation more crucial, the demand for medical care has grown as people came to understand that calling the doctor promptly often meant the difference between quick recovery and prolonged illness, or even death. For those families with low income and those in moderate circumstances, the cost of illness has always been burdensome; for many families it has made adequate care prohibitive. Also, medical bills are harder to pay because they are unexpected and unplanned for and illness often strikes at a time when family fortunes are at low ebb.

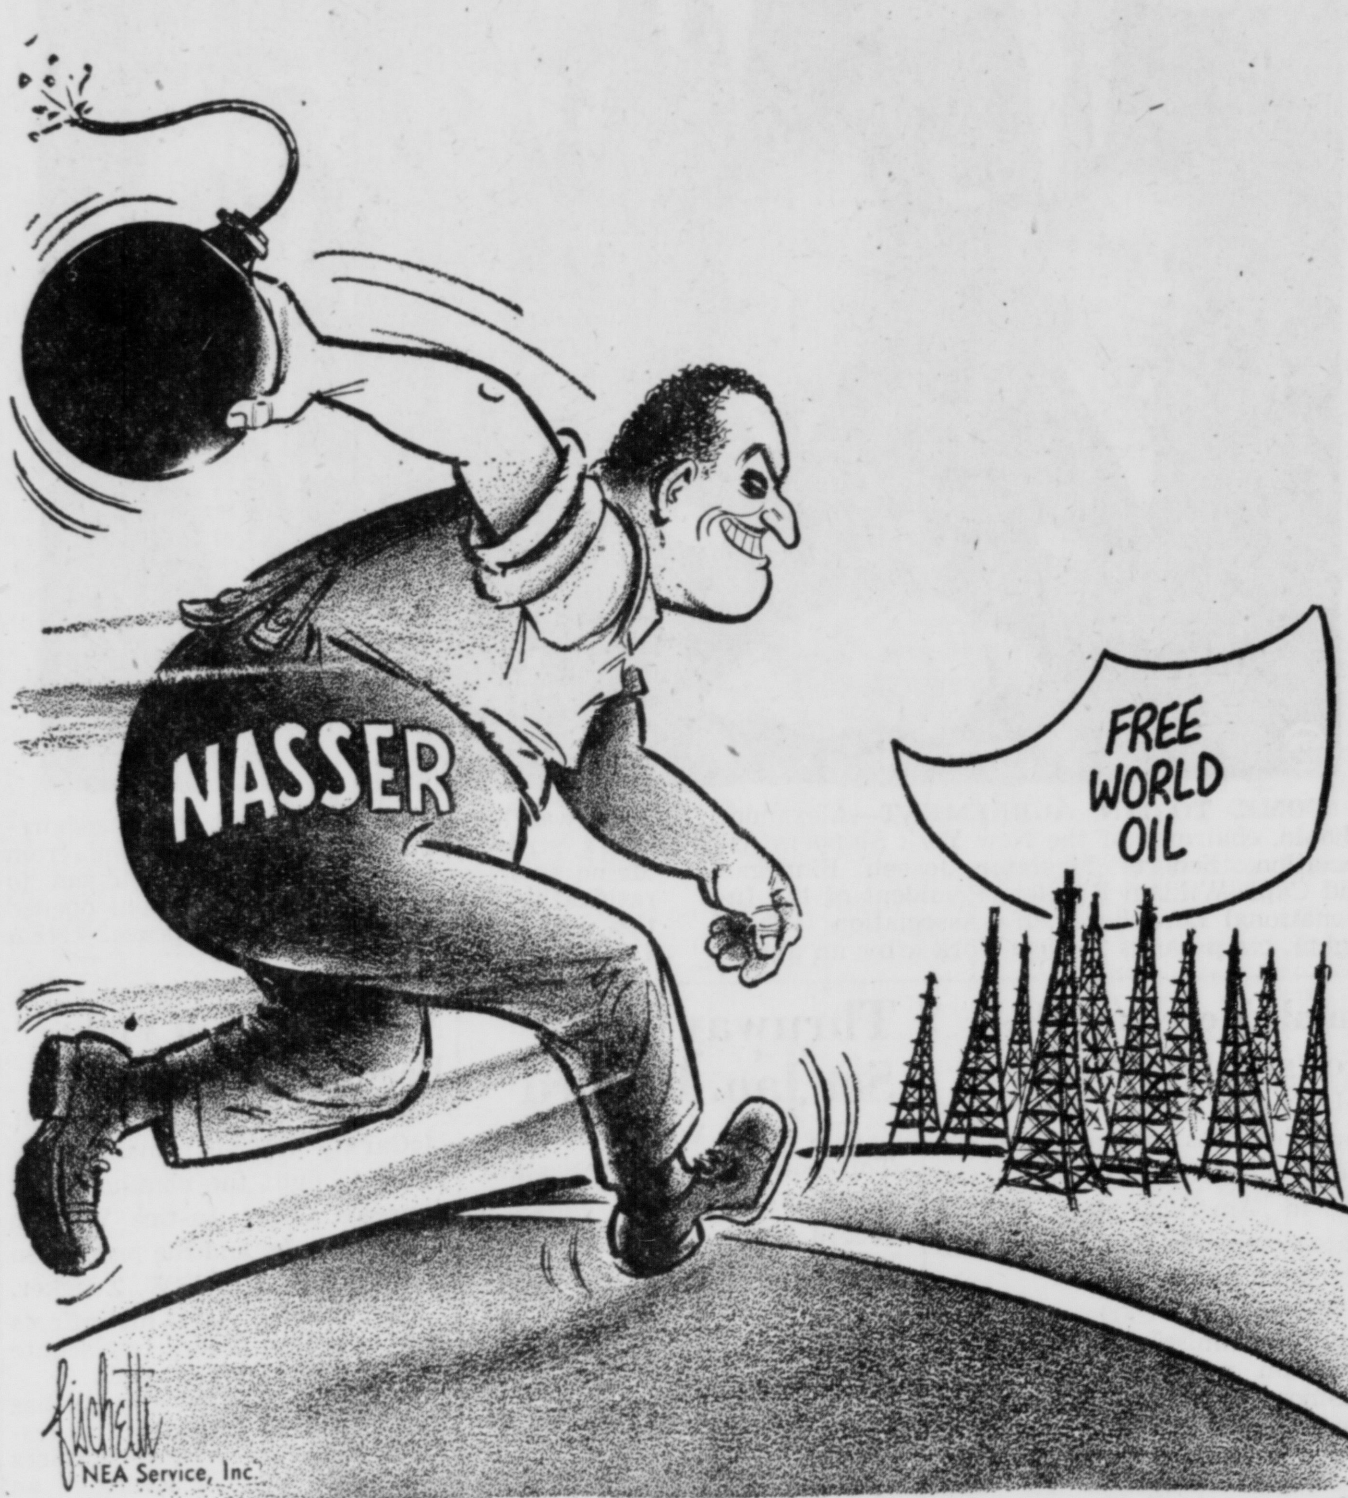

Happily, the economic barriers to medical care have been removed or greatly lowered in the last few years for the millions who have enrolled in hospital or medical prepayment and insurance plans. Prepayment of medical expenses is possible because, while it is impossible to tell whether John Jones will get appendicitis this year or any year, we can determine about how many cases of appendicitis will occur in a group of 1,000 John Joneses.

The growth of medical and hospital care prepayment plans in our time must certainly be considered among the most significant developments in the march of modern medicine.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington — (NEA) — This capital is still considerably hung over from its Middle Eastern emotional binge.

It began with President Eisenhower's presentation of his new Middle East Doctrine to Congress after New Year's.

It reached a climax with the visits of King Saud and little, lame Prince Masfud of Saudi Arabia, Crown Prince Emir Abdul Illah of Iraq and Foreign Minister Charles Malik of Lebanon.

The several conferences between the king and crown prince were positively historic. For what is not generally recognized is that 30-odd years ago, King Saud's father drove Crown Prince Illah's father off the throne of the Hejaz.

Now the two leaders of the ancient Wahhabi and Hashemite enemies have sat down together in Washington to talk peace.

A formal exchange of ambassadors between Saudi Arabia and the West may be looked for in the next development in their friendly relations. But anyone who expects miracles from even this significant beginning is being advised to relax.

Approval by Congress of a new Eisenhower Doctrine will not solve anything, either. For the problems of this area where Europe, Asia and Africa come together are as old as history.

These conflicts of 6,000 years—plus a few modern ones like Communist infiltration thrown in for good measure—are not going to be settled in seven days or even seven years.

PEOPLE WHO HAVE NOT lived all their lives in the Middle East should probably not try to talk or write about it. But the people who were born there and have studied its history say that what is conveniently referred to as "the Middle East Problem" is really dozens of separate problems, all tangled up like a barrel of worms.

These 10 major issues are included among other minor ones: The Arab-Israeli conflict. Little hope is seen for its settlement, for the two sides will not negotiate. The most that can be done is prevent them from fighting.

Communist infiltration. It operates behind a screen of opposition to western European and American "colonialism." The western world is trying to check communism by a backbone defense across Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Pakistan. Communism leapt frogs it.

Arab federation. It is still only in the talk stage.

The intellectual awakening in Islam. Modernization is slowed by some countries still so backward they are only now said to be "plunging headlong into the 13th century."

New nationalistic rivalries. Syria, for instance, is now said to be able to make no decision contrary to Communist interest. As Syria goes, so goes Jordan, country without a future.

Turkey. How will it react to any changes on its borders?

EGYPT. To consider President Nasser as the whole problem of Egypt is said to be wrong emphasis. Much more important is the economic position of the Egyptian people, with the lowest standard of living in the world, and an exploding population.

Persian Gulf oil. Its proper distribution to Europe and the rest of the world constitutes the really foremost economic issue. This raises another important question of—tribution to Europe and the rest of the world constitutes the really foremost economic issue. This raises another important question of—

U. S., British and French interests in the Middle East. The full possible cooperation of western Europe and America on all matters affecting this area is now regarded as essential.

Military defenses. This is closely related to the economic problems of the entire area. Security must be assured before there can be economic development.

ONE OF THE BEST justifications for the Eisenhower Doctrine now being advanced is that it is necessary to give the President a free hand to deal with these myriad problems.

This may be an over-simplification, but it is at least understandable. Crippling amendments, conditions and limitations would only add to the complexity.

And one of the big essentials is that the United States convince all countries that it is acting with complete impartiality.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Feb. 18—As a climax of the grand annual boozing and wind-jamming of the high racketeers of the AFL-CIO in Miami, the Navy invited 135 members of the cabal to observe anti-submarine exercises offshore from U.S.S. Antietam, an aircraft carrier. Six destroyers and a number of submarines were engaged. The high-brass of the mobs were hoisted by helicopter from the Miami Marine Corps air base to the Antietam which lay five miles offshore.

Sailors and marines, commissioned and enlisted, were put to the degrading necessity of performing like brutes in an animal act for organizations which extorted billions from the treasury for listless or positively obstructive performance during the war.

The pretext was stated in the Navy's official invitation as follows: "The annual cruise is part of the Navy's program to keep the nearly 15 million members of organized labor and their families informed of the mission and work of the Navy in the nation's defense."

This was in effect and in intent an official lie. The 15 million American workers are not all willing subjects of the union bosses who recently were forced to admit that thievery and other criminal conduct are prevalent in this menace and nobody knows this better than Charles S. Thomas, the Secretary of the Navy. Moreover, as Thomas and even the dumbest admiral well knows, these 15 million workers and their families cannot possibly be "informed of the mission and work of the Navy" by these fakirs.

In pursuit of the facts I telephoned Thomas as follows: "I am informed that Navy Department authorized two admirals executed an order whereby a gang of union bosses attending the annual ceremonial souse in Miami were entertained

Serious Commitments Noted In Exchange by U.S., Israel

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 19—There is more than meets the eye in the statements issued by the President and the State Department on Sunday, which, on the surface, indicate a deadlock between Israel and the United States.

Actually, there is no real stalemate but a means, well known in the art of diplomacy, of emphasizing publicly and with considerable explicitness the commitments which are being undertaken by both the United States and Israel. For when the Israeli troops are withdrawn, as inevitably they will be, the record of "assurances" has to be clear and precise.

The quick trip to Israel of Ambassador Eban to talk things over with his own government—after lengthy conferences with Secretary Dulles—is part of the program by which the United States hopes to convince the doubting parliament in Israel that the record of promises is now made favors rather than blocks a solution of Israel's problems in both the Gaza strip and the Gulf of Aqaba. Indeed, one can see in the text of the memorandum issued by the State Department a case being built up for assuring ready access of Israeli ships to the Suez Canal as well.

Points to UN Charter
President Eisenhower in his own statement drew Israel's attention to the provisions of the UN charter that require the settlement of international disputes by peaceful means, and then said:

"These undertakings seem to preclude using the forcible seizure and occupation of other lands as bargaining power in the settlement of international disputes."

But within a few hours a dispatch was coming over the wires of the United Press from the Suez Canal zone as follows:

"UN salvage work on the Suez Canal was at a virtual standstill today. . . . Informed sources said the UN salvage team which is costing the UN $20,000 a day will be unable to meet its March 10 deadline unless full-scale work resumes immediately. It has not been mentioned openly here, but the whole operation appeared to hinge on the question of Israeli withdrawal from the Gaza strip and the coast of the Gulf of Aqaba."

Who Is Defying UN?
"Authoritative sources said Egyptian officials have made it clear to Lt. Gen. Raymond E. Wheeler, head of the UN salvage work, that there is no chance of getting salvage work into full stride until the question of Israeli withdrawal is settled."

publicity at the time, but I have heard that the president of the UAW was one of those who were Navy neverless tried to propitiate at Miami. There was also an incident in Cincinnati, Aug. 25, 1951, in which CIO steelworkers committee refused to "permit" Navy to move defense materials from truck plant of American Laundry Machinery Co., in Norwood, O. Incident in Miami is strictly a political demonstration. The effect will be very bad on decent patriotic Americans in and out of the Navy. Are you sure you are thoroughly informed? Because I assert that Navy personnel were ordered to position of attention as salute in honor of these unionists. Does the secretary want to take up my offer to present proof of additional union sabotage of Navy production and efficiency? Same rackets would do same again and you know it. Quit trying to kid the public."

To which I would add that the entire racket of the unions preyed on the anguish and peril of the United States throughout the war and by featherbedding, whistle jumping and stalling created the artificial "shortage" of labor which provided the excuse for the immoral and degrading resort to corps of female auxiliaries to the several services.

Homemakers' Poll
Vienna (P)—Austrian men are not too keen doing dishes or any other household work, according to a nation-wide check. No less than 62 per cent of the housewives, asked by a public opinion poll whether they are getting any help from their husbands, said: "none whatever." The remaining 38 per cent admitted that their men lend them a hand in doing the rooms, cleaning boots, carrying coals upstairs and in shopping. However, only 3 per cent of Austria's men got the classification: "good for all household jobs." A total of 66 per cent of the women questioned, expressed themselves in favor of male assistance. 24 per cent said that they did not care whether they get any aid or not.

CONSTIPATED?

new laxative discovery
un-locks bowel blocks

without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

AND, OF ALL LAXATIVES, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturizing capacity plus COLONOID's stretch-stimulating bulk that activates normal colonic reflexes. So effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy. SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Per Cent Play Often Loses

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The final contract of three no-trump in today's hand is reasonable. Almost any player would have no trouble making an over-trick by taking his ace of diamonds and cashing four spades and five clubs for 10 tricks.

Now let's see what happened to poor South.

He ducked the first two diamond leads and noted that West shed a heart. He had to win the third diamond and West discarded another heart. Declarer then went after the spades and on the fourth lead of that suit everyone discarded a heart.

South led a club to his king. West followed and South took time out to count the hand.

East and West had each shown up with three spades but East had started with five diamonds to West's one diamond. There was no way to count the hearts except that East had held one at least and West three at least.

This partial count was sufficient to cause South to expect that West would have started with at least four clubs. If he started with exactly four the odds would be that he would hold the jack. If he started with five he would have to hold the jack. Even if clubs were going to break three-three there was an even chance that West would hold the jack.

South decided that the club finesse was called for, took it and lost to the singleton jack whereupon East and West took the rest of the tricks for a three-trick penalty.

South's play was well thought out and the bad result only goes to show that the best percentage play does not always work.

Last Ferry Trip

The Editor, The Freeman:

During the past week New York papers have given much space to the opening of the Kingston Bridge.

Late in the fall I thought I would like to take a trip on the Rhinebeck Ferry before it stopped running. Someone has said, "Never go back" and when I left Broadway and drove along the Strand, I asked myself, "What has become of the wonderful stories of old that for many, many years catered to the grand people downtown?"

The Mansion House was once a famous hotel, Derrenbachers, Terpenings, Mary Flynn's fine millinery shop, Mrs. Kerley's stand; on the opposite side of the street were Canfield Plumbing, the wonderful department store of VanWagenen. Then on to where Block's fine store was always a meeting place for those who liked the latest in fashions; the large plumbing shop and residence of the Halloran family, Fischer's Hotel; the fine offices of the Turk Bros., all have disappeared—in their places are rot and decay.

The ferry finally got under way and we passed the Cornell Steamboat dock where in my day some of the best tugs ever built used to dock and were manned by the finest young men ever to walk the decks of a boat. They have also—boats and men—departed. The dock where the Queen of the Hudson, Mary Powell used to land her passengers brought back memories of the wonderful bell on the Queen which Capt. Anderson always had rung as she turned into the creek from the Hudson.

The lighthouse which replaced the original one where Mrs. Muddock and her son, Jim lived for so many years is now boarded up. My heart was sad for my parents and I were born in good old Ponckhockie and memory recalls many, many of the wonderful people whom I knew and loved in my youth.

Who was responsible for all this decay? I think I know, and realize I should not have "gone back."

What kind of looks has your wife been giving you lately?

The look to watch for comes out of the corner of the eye. Sometimes the lid drops slightly.

Let it be a warning to you as plain as a peal of thunder: there's a storm brewing about money. Maybe she's concluded you're good at making it but just not very smart about handling it. Stop her in her tracks by addressing her something like this:

Darling (you say gently), I suggest that you and I, together, look into the matter of increasing our family income by investing a little money at regular intervals in common stock or bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange. And no interruptions, please, until you have made this fascinating journey with me in five steps...

First step: Two out of three shareowners have incomes under $7500 a year. If we own stock we'll have a chance of getting dividends to increase our income and of getting income from other sources than my job. And if the company grows the value of our investment may grow, too. Because stock makes us part-owners of the company and if it prospers we may share in its prosperity. Or we can buy bonds that promise to pay interest on our money.

Second step: We'll be intelligent investors. Sometimes a company doesn't pay dividends or doesn't grow. So we won't jump at tips or rumors—we'll get facts before we buy. And we'll use only money left over after the bills and family emergencies are provided for.

Third step: We'll introduce ourselves to a fellow who knows a lot more about investing than we do—a broker in a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. We'll ask him to help us plan a really sensible investment program. We'll find out whether bonds are better for us than stocks. Everybody who's going to invest should ask the help of a good broker. That's what he's there for... to help us buy or sell securities wisely.

Fourth step: Together we'll read a wonderful booklet called "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS." It's got sixteen pages packed with information about more than 300 stocks on the Exchange that have paid dividends every year from 25 to 108 years. It tells which ones are preferred by financial institutions, which pay 5 to 6 percent dividends at recent prices, and other interesting facts.

Fifth step: And finally, in that booklet we'll read about the marvelously convenient Monthly Investment Plan that can help us invest regularly in some of America's greatest corporations. In any one Plan we can invest as little as $40 every three months—up to $1000 a month.

And now darling (you conclude winningly), will you take this journey with me into the fascinating world of investments? If you will, we can own our share of American business.

If you deliver the above speech with proper inflections, your wife will break into a broad and loving smile. But don't let her beat you to the coupon. That's your prerogative. Tear it out now and send it at the first opportunity.

International Synonym for "Achievement"!

Mention the name "Cadillac" wherever you will—in any part of the civilized world—and you will find a common meeting-ground of understanding.

For "Cadillac" is part of the international language—and its meaning is known and understood wherever highways lead.

It is, in brief, a world-wide synonym for personal achievement!

And this is, we think, entirely logical. For over the years, the Cadillac car has played a vital role in the lives of so many of the leading citizens of every community where motor cars are seen.

Cadillac is, in fact, the predictable choice of those whose choice is unrestricted.

This, of course, is not to say that a motorist need necessarily possess an abundance of this world's goods in order to enjoy the great satisfaction of Cadillac ownership.

On the contrary, today's Cadillac car represents one of the soundest of all automotive investments.

Consider, for instance, the economy of buying a Cadillac. Several models are actually priced competitively with much smaller, lighter cars.

Consider the practical aspects of driving a Cadillac. The car is remarkably economical from a standpoint of both maintenance and operation.

And lastly, think of the wisdom of owning a Cadillac. Year after year, Cadillac returns a greater share of its owner's original investment than any other motor car in the land.

In other words, wisdom and practicality can lead you to the "car of cars" just as surely as prominence and prosperity.

We suggest that you come in soon—that you spend an hour at the wheel—and that you delay no longer in making the magic move to Cadillac.

We'll be looking for you—soon.

How to Prepare Returns

Your Income Tax Primer

(Eleven of 12 Chapters)
By RICHARD A. MULLEN
Written for NEA Service

Before deciding whether to file your return on the simple form 1040A or the more complicated Form 1040 you must know whether you qualify for any of the tax breaks which can be claimed only on Form 1040.

The previous Primer articles have described all but one of such tax breaks. The last one is the retirement income credit, a tax break given for the first time in 1954 to people who retire on their own savings and investments.

Congress again changed the law last year to make it easier for taxpayers over 65 to qualify for the retirement income credit. Here's how the credit works:

All taxpayers over 65 and those taxpayers under 65 who are retired under a public retirement system established by the United States, or a state, territory, possession or political subdivision are allowed a credit against their tax of 20 per cent of their "retirement income."

"Retirement income" is defined as income from pensions, annuities, interest, rents and dividends. The amount taken into account in any one year may not exceed $1,200 for each taxpayer minus the sum of:

1. Exempt social security or Railroad Retirement Act pensions or annuities received;
2. Other tax exempt pensions or annuities received, such as veterans' pension (but not armed forces retirement pay based on disability resulting from active service), and
3. In the case of a taxpayer under 65, any earned income in excess of $900. In the case of taxpayers 65 or over and under 72, any earned income in excess of $1,200. Earned income means salaries, wages, or other compensation for personal services. Once a taxpayer is 72, this third reduction does not apply.

The retirement income credit can only be claimed by filling out

1040 U. S. INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAX RETURN

Tax Quiz: Short Form Or Long?

CHECK the answer you think is correct and then compare with the answers printed below.

1. Can you compute your own tax if you use Form 1040A? Yes—No—
2. Are you entitled to claim the $50 dividend exclusion if you use Form 1040A? Yes—No—
3. Can you claim the dividends received credit on Form 1040A? Yes—No—
4. Can you claim a deduction for child care expenses on Form 1040A? Yes—No—

ANSWERS: (1) Yes, (2) Yes, (3) Yes, (4) Yes

Schedule K of Form 1040. If a joint return is filed, Column A is for the wife and Column B for the husband.

Each spouse may qualify for the credit provided he and she can both answer "yes" to the question: Did you receive earned income (that is, income from wages, salaries, or other compensation for personal services) of more than $600 in any 10 prior years? If only one spouse can answer "yes" to this question, then only that spouse can fill out the remainder of the column to see if he qualifies for the credit. A widow or widower may answer "yes" to this question if the deceased spouse met the 10 year income test.

By filling out the remaining items in Schedule K under each column with a "yes" check, your retirement income credit will show up as the amount in line 12. This amount is then transferred to line 13 (b), page 1 of Form 1040 where it is subtracted from the tax otherwise due.

Now you are ready to decide which tax form to use in reporting your 1956 income.

Here are some tips which will help you.

You may use Form 1040A if:

1. Your gross income is less than $5,000, and
2. Your gross income was received in the form of salary, wages, dividends, or interest, and
3. Your gross income from sources other than wages subject to withholding does not exceed $100.

A married couple may make a joint return on Form 1040A if the combined income meets the above test. Married couples whose legal residence is in a community property state may not file separate returns on Form 1040A.

Do not use Form 1040A if:

1. You qualify as "head of household" or "surviving spouse."
2. Your personal deductions exceed 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income.
3. You have any reimbursed expenses, out-of-town travel expenses, transportation expenses related to your work, or expense as an outside salesman. (See article 4.)
4. You have dividend income in excess of the dividend exclusion. (See article 5.)
5. You are entitled to the credit for retirement income explained above in this article.
6. You have made payments of estimated tax for 1956.
7. You had more than $84 of F.I.C.A. (Social Security) tax withheld from your pay in 1956 because you received wages from more than one employer. (See article 12.)
8. You are entitled to the exclusion for sick pay. (See article 4.)

You may use short Form 1040 if:

Your adjusted gross income, item 11, page 1 of Form 1040, is less than $5,000. You cannot itemize deductions on the Short Form 1040.

DO NOT Use Short Form 1040 if:

Your personal deductions exceed 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income.

Long Form 1040 can be used by any taxpayer who itemizes his deductions on page 2. This form must be used whenever the adjusted gross income shown in item 11, page 1, of Form 1040 is $5,000 or more.

Those of you using Form 1040A may, if you wish, compute your own tax from the schedule on the instructions. Or, if you prefer, you can leave the tax computation spaces blank and let the District Director compute your tax.

The District Director of Internal Revenue will use the tax table printed on the instructions for Form 1040A to compute your tax and send you a refund or a bill depending on whether too much tax or too little tax was withheld from your pay. If you compute your own tax, you must pay any tax due when you file the return.

Those of you using the Short Form 1040 should fill in page 1 and, if necessary, part of page 2 showing all your exemptions and all your income and the schedules on page 4 if applicable to you. Then find your tax from the Tax Table on the last page of the official instructions.

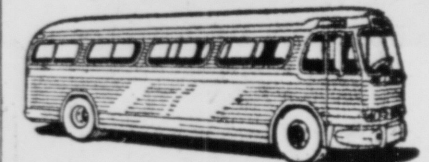

Just follow the simple instructions at the top of the Table and be sure to select the exemption column that corresponds to the number of exemptions you claim on page 1. Then enter the tax in Item 12, on page 1. The last few steps necessary to complete your Short Form 1040 will be described in tomorrow's article.

Those of you who itemize deductions or who have incomes in excess of $5,000 must use the tax computation schedule on page 2 of the return to compute your tax.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I received two very interesting newspapers from Morehead City, N. C., both of them have a "Do You Remember?" column in them by-lined by Ruth Howland Deyo who married Percy Deyo formerly of Kingston.

The newspaper is called Carteret County News-Times and is winner of the National Editorial Ass'n and North Carolina Press Ass'n awards. It comes out twice a week, Tuesday and Friday. They are now having their Morehead City Centennial Jubilee 1857-1957 which will be celebrated August 4 to 10, 1957. Those who remember Ruth may be happy to learn that she not only writes this column but also is on various committees covering television for which she has written a narration, and is working on a souvenir booklet of historical facts.

Ruth is a girl friend of mine from the days of the book-shop uptown when we all used to meet informally for lunch or coffee and talk books and things in general. We hear from each other at Christmas time unless something important turns up like the above.

I love the way Ruth writes, for it is just the way I remember she used to tell us about the south. She invited me down there then, and is now asking me to come down for the celebration. One thing I know Morehead is famous for is those storms that one reads about. That I don't like. Her column of January 15 starts thus: "When Mama and Papa were young, Morehead City was young too. They grew up together. There was one paved street . . . paved with local oyster shells . . . Other streets were little more than paths . . . grass and sandspurs, weeds and wild onion. There was a wooden sidewalk on one side of Main street."

At 6th street this sidewalk continued on pilings, as Bogue Sound flowed under it . . . Across from the Wiggins house was the depot . . . right in the middle of the street. A shelter was built over the railroad track there, and the Shoo-Fly stopped here to take on and let off passengers."

I like all her descriptions as I think much of it fits most of our towns in the growing period. She covers the memories of three generations or about 15 years after the Civil War . . . "Older people sat in swings and on porch steps, slapping mosquitoes and turning the smudge pot that was burning with rags, so the smoke wouldn't come right in their face . . . Back porches had sweet smelling clematis vines running over lattice work. Here, against the wall, hung three wash tubs."

"On Mondays they were taken down and put on a long bench. The tubs were filled with water from your cistern . . . A big black three-legged iron pot squatted in the back yard. On wash days the white clothes were boiled to pieces in it. Soaps were made in it, and it was used for various operations at hog killing time . . ."

Every line is good and I hate to skip them because of lack of space. I asked her to send me more of her writings of the good olden days of North Carolina from which will quote.

This is her end paragraph: "Cantankerous old maid aunts, grandmothers, grandfathers, first cousins, second cousins, third cousins . . . all kinds of cousins, lived with you, in harmony or not. Nobody ever locked a door. Well, you certainly were putting on airs if you did!" Perhaps some folks who drive down south and know Ruth and Percy Deyo from Kingston would like to step in and say "hello!" to her at Morehead City during the jubilee in August or any other time.

Colorful Cherry Compote
Honors George Washington

FOR A FRESH approach to Washington's birthday dessert, try red cherry compote, served with almond-flavored white cake.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

Back to the cherry tree and I cannot tell a lie legend that's always repeated on Washington's birthday. True or false? Makes no difference—dark red cherries are wonderful eating and now's the time to enjoy them.

For Washington's birthday dessert try this zesty cherry compote in which frozen pineapple and peaches play the supporting roles.

George Washington Cherry

Compote (Serves 6-8)

One No. 303 can dark, sweet cherries, drained; one 13½-ounce can frozen pineapple chunks, one 10-ounce can frozen peach slices, ¼ cup Muscatel wine (optional).

Place frozen fruits in bowl to thaw. Drain and pit cherries, reserving cherry syrup. When nearly thawed, drain combined frozen fruits and reserve juice.

Place in serving bowl with cherries. Add wine, if desired, and ¼ cup juice from pineapple and peaches.

Allow to stand before serving. Serve with chiffon cake.

If wine is used, reserve cherry syrup and combined juices for punch.

Fragrant Cherry Punch

To cherry syrup and peach-pineapple juice (about 1½ cups) add one 7-ounce bottle of carbonated lemon-lime beverage for a delicious punch.

Consumer Spending Bright Spot in Today's Economy

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Consumed spending is still the brightest spot in the economy today. People go right on spending their slightly increased incomes at about the same rate as that which made 1956 such a good year.

Neither rising prices nor tight credit has stopped them. And as long as they go on that way, business will go on booming.

Retail sales are at a record volume, the Federal Reserve Board reports, although industrial output dropped off a little bit in January, and unemployment rose.

Buyers Selective

But consumers are getting more choosy and shop around more. And their shifting tastes are disappointing some industries. Sales of new cars and TV sets, for example, haven't been as large as the makers hoped.

Merchants are keeping a sharp eye out for price resistance by their customers. The creeping inflation of the last year, apparent first at the manufacturing level and among various services, is now showing up in the nation's stores. Any real customer resistance to the higher prices would work back quickly to the factories.

Some economists hold that inflation is already topping out, without the brake of price resistance.

Industrial Capacity

They base their arguments on the factor of increased industrial capacity. The big expansion program of most industries has put many of them in the position of being able to produce more now than there is present demand for.

These economists hold that this will prevent much further increasing of prices, even though rising wage scales will put pressure behind it.

If this surplus industrial capacity should lead the economy to back away from full employment, the economists argue, this would weaken one factor behind rising prices—the pressure for still higher wage scales.

Inflation Is Threat

There is another school of economists, however, that believes that inflation is still a very real threat. A number of Washington officials back this view.

They hold that the present easing of the money market is only temporary. They argue that if business lets up on its demand for more funds to finance still further expansion, increased governmental spending at all levels will take up the slack.

Demands Are Potential

Many predictions of continuing good times are, in fact, based largely on expectations of big spending by federal, state and local governments. The demand for schools, roads, as well as expanding defense needs is great and with no apparent end in sight.

A number of industries look to these demands as among their greatest sales potentials.

The tremors that have swept the stock market of late have reflected the big debate over the course of the economy—the debate over whether it's inflation or deflation we face.

Some thing that as long as the consumer goes ahead spending most of what he makes the boom will continue, even if at a slow rate of increase. To date he shows every sign of doing that.

If sales in certain lines take their usual spring upswing, even some of the doubting Thomases in Wall Street may be converted.

Georgia Would Impeach Warren, Others on Bench

Atlanta, Feb. 19 (AP)—A resolution calling for impeachment of six justices of the U. S. Supreme Court has been passed by the Georgia House and sent to the Senate despite a member's protest that "we're making ourselves ridiculous before the world."

It was approved yesterday by a slim margin of four votes, with 57 members not voting. The roll call count was 107 to 33. A constitutional majority of 103 was necessary for passage.

Hits Misdemeanors
The resolution, drafted by Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook, charged "high crimes and misdemeanors" to Chief Justice Earl Warren and Associate Justices Black, Douglas, Reed, Frankfurter and Clark.

Rep. Raymond Reed spoke out against what he called "a far-fetched resolution" based on "unreasonable, unfounded evidence." "We're making ourselves ridiculous before the world," he said. "What better way could we serve the community press than to throw out such a resolution as this, based on unwarranted and unfounded charges."

The resolution made several charges based mainly on rulings in sedition and segregation cases. It would have the Georgia General Assembly declare that the six justices "are guilty of attempting to subvert the Constitution of the United States, and of high crimes and misdemeanors in office, and of giving aid or comfort to the enemies of the United States."

It would ask other states to pass similar resolutions and call on the Georgia members of the U. S. House of Representatives to begin impeachment proceedings.

Bill Is Offered For $57 Million Enclosed Arena

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—A bi-partisan bill was introduced in the legislature today that would authorize construction of a harness racing track in a proposed 57-million-dollar enclosed arena in New York city.

The measure was submitted by Sen. Thomas A. Duffy, Queens Democrat, and Assemblyman George W. Harrington, Bronx Republican, at the request of a group that includes Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

The bill would authorize a winter harness racing meet in the city from Dec. 1 to March 31 and grant to the track operators a straight 10 per cent share of pari-mutuel betting receipts during amortization of construction bonds. There was no indication as to how long that might be.

Existing harness tracks now receive a share of betting receipts that begins at 10 per cent and drops gradually to four per cent as wagering increases. The effect of the bill would be to put the prestige of the state behind the venture, which would aid the builders in marketing their construction bonds.

Missile Tracker

Washington (AP)—The army has a new giant telescope tracker which can follow the flight of missiles as far as 300 miles away and show them on a screen in color. Planes, official publication of the Aircraft Industries Association, says the telescope is currently undergoing tests at a military proving ground location. The ton and one-half instrument, which is equipped with a 400-pound lens, will be used to track and photograph high altitude meteorological balloons for their locations and altitude, to locate objects such as rockets and artillery shells, and to evaluate radar systems.

GRIM WARNING—Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson (above) said in Washington that 40 to 50 per cent of the United States population would be killed in an enemy atomic attack. He said this would be true even if the best available system of shelters was in place. (NEA Telephoto)

Atonement Church Plans Expansion Of Teen Canteen

Expansion of the teen canteen program of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Atonement, Saugerties was announced today by the Rev. Richard I. Crossland, pastor of the church.

"The program inaugurated in January has been working out so favorably and has been so well received by the youth of the community, that in the future, canteens will be held twice a month," the Rev. Mr. Crossland said.

For 7th Grade and Over

The canteens are for youths from 7th grade and up and are conducted in the church social room from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m. There is a complete variety of activities for the youth from dancing, including square dancing, darts, ping pong, card playing, checkers, group singing, television and even some times some short entertaining movies, he said.

The Couples Club of the church, which helps in the sponsoring of these canteens, has agreed to the increased schedule and also will be purchasing new games and equipment as they are needed.

"More than forty young people attended the Canteen in January and many of them were not members of the local congregation," the Rev. Mr. Crossland said. "This program is for all of the community...as we try to fill a need that is very definite in our young people today as well as a real need of this community," he said.

Plan Youth Forums

In addition to the canteens held on the 2nd and last Saturday evenings of each month, in the future, the church holds Sunday night youth forums on the first and third Sundays of each month. The March Forums will discuss "What Should I Give Up For Lent?" and "Should I Go To College." The extracurricular activity for the month of March will be a trip to Wagner College on Staten Island Saturday, March 23. A tour of the college will be held and lunch in the student's dining room.

The Rev. Mr. Crossland invites all of the young people of the community to the next teen canteen Saturday from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m.

Worry Warts?

Los Angeles, Calif. (AP)—A psychiatrist reports that bacteria and other minute organisms find it easier to infect people who worry and fret. "All organic diseases are influenced by psychological factors," said Dr. Leo Rangell, clinical professor of psychiatry at UCLA, at a recent postgraduate seminar on psychiatric problems in general practice. "Resistance to infection is influenced by the psychic state." The psychiatrist said emotional irritations may be reflected in irritations of the lining of the colon or skin surface, which in turn invite bacterial invasion.

sources to keep the railroad operating for two months, so that further efforts could be made to sell it as a going concern. The deadline was extended until last Friday and then until yesterday.

Ryan told the receivers yesterday they could have nine more days to complete the task of raising the $250,000 from users of the railroad, municipalities and other contributors.

541 Miles of Tracks

The receivers have told the court they had assurances that the entire $250,000 could be raised from shippers and others.

The N. Y. O. & W. has 541 miles of trackage. It runs between Weehawken, N. J., and Oswego, N. Y., with a spur line to Scranton, Pa. Passenger service on the line was abandoned several years ago.

Kilsheimer told the judge at yesterday's hearing that the railroad's new general manager, Robert McGraw, and department heads would tour the system today to survey where further economies could be made.

The judge urged speed in effecting economies.

Reports to Court

Among items in Kilsheimer's report to the court were these: Funds collected from various companies and communities to help keep the line running are on deposit in an Albany bank, except for about $90,000 already turned over the receivers for operating expenses.

Savings have been effected by layoffs and by reduction in costs in all departments. Traffic offices in Birmingham, Ala., and Cincinnati have been closed and some of the railroad's offices in New York city have been dropped at a saving at the rate of about $11,000 a year.

During the first 17 days of this month, carloadings dropped 3 per cent, compared with the first 17 days of last February. Loadings in January, however, were 10 per cent under January, 1956.

The N.Y.O. & W. expects to get some business in the spring as the result of highway construction near Liberty, N. Y. About 75,000 tons of crushed stone and "large amounts" of cement will have to be carried into the area.

Kilsheimer recommended that obsolete equipment consisting of six baggage cars in Middletown,

Stresses Law Principles

Dulles stressed throughout his meeting with reporters that the serious events in the Middle East have made all countries realize more keenly the need to uphold the principles of international law.

In this connection, he noted that a 1951 Security Council resolution declared that the Suez Canal should be open to all ships, but Israel's right to use the canal was allowed to be disregarded.

Since then, Dulles said, there has been an increasing realization among all countries of the need for scrupulous observance of the 1949 Palestine Armistice Agreements.

Radar Plan

Antwerp, Belgium (AP)—Experts of the Dutch radar station of Noordwyk have drawn up a plan for the establishment of a complete radar network on the Scheldt river in order to ensure complete security of navigation on the Dutch-Belgian waterway from Antwerp to the North Sea.

The plan was studied at the request of the Belgian ministry of communications and the Belgian-marine administration. The plan was handed to Belgian and Dutch authorities for later approval and application. It calls for the creation on Dutch and Belgian territory of a certain number of radar stations.

The number of cigarette smokers in the United States increased from 40 million to 60 million between 1940 and 1952.

"I have nothing to say on that," in announcing Eisenhower's decision to return to Washington today, Hagerty said it was prompted by no emergency development.

Garage Hearing Slated Tonight

Proposed plans for a multi-story parking garage will be discussed at a public meeting at 8 p. m. today at the Ulster county courthouse.

The purpose of the meeting, sponsored by the parking committee of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, is purely informational, it was reported.

George Svirsky, chairman of the committee, will preside. A representative of one of the firms manufacturing equipment for such garages will be present and explain his system and its alleged advantages.

union representatives still were negotiating over local issues on a contract for 4,500 longshoremen. They were not expected to return to work until Friday at the earliest.

Bradley's announcement last night on a conditional return to work today bound the Port of New York's 25,000 longshoremen to stay out on strike until contracts were settled in all ports.

However, some ILLA leaders of Manhattan locals appeared adamant to continue the walkout until the tentative contract agreement received ratification by the union membership. No concrete plans have been set up to put the ratification machinery into motion, however.

Bradley Backtracks

Anthony Anastasia, Brooklyn dock union boss, indicated that he might send his dockworkers back to work today.

Such a back-to-work movement did not develop, however.

At one time yesterday, Bradley flatly said "there will be no work tomorrow," but within minutes he backtracked to say a return to work was conditional on settlement of contracts in Philadelphia, Norfolk and Baltimore.

He made no statement after the Philadelphia, agreement was reached to indicate that he had changed his position.

County Building

by the committee in preparation for the final draft of plans.

Cites Need

"Ulster county has long needed a county building to properly house overcrowded departments," McHugh said. "We are now moving ahead and hope soon to have the final approval of plans and actual construction underway," he concluded.

The need for a county building to house overcrowded departments and to provide critically needed space for filing records, particularly in the overtaxed county clerk's office, has long been known. McHugh, Republican majority leader of the board of supervisors, has proposed to the board a long range program for the county and included in that proposal was the suggestion that present county offices widely separated in overtaxed and antiquated structures be housed in a central building.

Members of the county building committee are: Supervisors McHugh, chairman, Relyea, Phinney, Williams, Storms and Fiore.

Faces Murder Count

San Diego, Calif., Feb. 19 (AP)—

A 17-year-old youth picked up at the Mexican border for possible violation of the juvenile curfew law, was tentatively identified by police today as James Clifford Parks, charged in Texas with murdering his mother and stepfather. The bodies of Luther E. Parks, 34, and his wife Eunice, 33, were found in their home at Wichita Falls, Tex., Sunday. Parks had been shot 10 times and his wife six with a .22 caliber rifle. The Texas Department of Public Safety issued a nationwide alert for young Parks yesterday, saying he was driving the family's 1954 white Ford sedan and was accompanied by his collier dog.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—Did you know that Alaska is not only twice the size of Texas but also has an ice cube larger than Rhode Island? The hunk of ice is the Malaspina glacier near Cordova. Alaskans are making a mighty pitch this year to get their territory admitted as the 49th member of the United States.

May Have Forgotten

Here are a few things they think you should know about what they feel is "the land America has forgotten": That Alaska, whose population increased from 72,524 in 1940 to more than 209,000 today, is growing faster than any state in the union—percentage-wise.

That white settlers from the 48 states outnumber the Eskimos and other native tribes by eight to one.

That Alaska, purchased from Russia for $7,200,000 in 1867, has produced since then more than $600,000,000 in gold alone.

That although dubbed by early critics by such names as "Seward's Folly," "Icebergia," "Polaria," and "Walrusia," the Eskimo meaning of Alaska is "the great land."

That Alaska's land area is 90 times that of Hawaii and one fifth that of the continental United States.

That air-minded Alaska has a private plane for every 165 persons, a higher ratio than in any state.

That military expenditures in this northern barrier against Russia have exceeded a billion dollars since 1940.

Claim Highest PC Tax

That Alaskan citizens claim they pay the highest per capita federal tax under the American flag, but can't vote in U. S. presidential elections—nor do they have voting representation in Congress.

That the climate of Ketchikan in southern Alaska is much like that of Seattle....temperatures in Anchorage go over 85 degrees in summer and are not much colder in winter than parts of the Rocky Mountain states.

That the rich earth and 24-hour summer sunlight in Matanuska valley, near Anchorage, grow 60-pound cabbages and strawberries as big as your fist.

That the blubber of a large whale may be as much as 14 inches thick....Eskimo children call this blubber "maktuk" and go for it like U. S. kids go for candy.

That the world's largest carnivorous animals, the Kodiak brown bear and giant polar bear, are found there. They weigh up to a ton, measure 12 feet from snout to stubble-tail.

Rich Petroleum Reserves

That mining is second to fighting as Alaska's most important industry, but the Navy petroleum reserves at Point Barrow on the ocean are among the richest undeveloped fields in the Western Hemisphere.... more than five million acres south of the Arctic Circle are under lease to American oil companies.

That jaywalking moose evading wolves and deep snow are a problem on the Alaska Railroad.... although electric shockers have been installed on the engines, 35 moose were run down on one trip from Fairbanks to Seward.... the moose who die in pedestrian deaths are contributed to hospitals.

That a $50,000,000 pulp paper mill recently went into production in Ketchikan, and two larger mills are planned at Juneau and Sitka.

That a heavy sleeper who really wants to get away from liquor can't do better than to move to Kotzebue, an Eskimo village on the Bering Sea, where the nights are six months long.... there are four churches.... and the nearest bar is 100 miles away.

That the 1867 treaty with Russia provided Alaska's inhabitants would be "admitted to the enjoyment of all the rights, advantages and immunities of citizens of the United States".... but 90 years later Alaskans are still fighting to obtain many of those promised rights.

That hundreds of Alaskan schoolchildren are bombarding President Eisenhower and Congress with postcard pictures of the territorial flower—the Forget-Me-Not—to remind them that Alaska, "The Great Land," doesn't want them to forget that both major political parties last year adopted platform planks favoring Alaska its long-sought equality as a state in the federal union.

Robbers Get $900 In Third Stickup

Utica, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—Police searched today for two men who escaped with $900 in the third armed robbery within 25 days of a Beneficial Finance Co. branch in upstate New York.

The men, one said to be carrying a gun, held up the company's office yesterday in suburban New Hartford. The previous robberies were at Lyons and Liverpool.

The holdup men bound manager Jules Valenstein of the New Hartford office and Peter Wald, 19, of Utica, who entered during the robbery. Office help was at lunch.

Valenstein said the robbers were about 30 and 40 years old. At the Lyons office, robbers fled with about $900. The take at Liverpool was $88.

New Bills Introduced In State Legislature

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—The influential chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee has his own plan for a uniform, statewide court system—one that differs radically from that proposed by the Tweed Commission.

Sen. Pliny W. Williamson, Scarsdale Republican, proposed last night that surrogate's and peace justice courts be continued in any statewide system. Both would have been eliminated under the Tweed Commission plan.

Bill Deadline Today

The chairman suggested also that family matters be handled in a new family court. The commission left this out.

Williamson's proposed constitutional amendment was among scores of measures introduced last night. Hundreds more were on tap today, the deadline for general introduction of bills. After today, bills can be introduced only through the Senate and Assembly Rules Committees.

The Republican-controlled state commission on Agriculture today sponsored legislation that would allow the development of marketing agreements or orders on perishable farm products other than milk.

The bill was introduced by Sen. Austin W. Erwin of Genesee, commission chairman, and Assemblyman Leo A. Lawrence of Herkimer county, vice chairman. They said the legislation was developed after a year of study and a series of statewide hearings. Such agreements would be subject to approval of the agriculture commissioner, after a public hearing.

Erwin and Assemblyman John E. Johnson, Genesee county Republican, co-sponsored a measure that would authorize cities of 10,000 population or less to impose a tax up to 15 per cent on admissions at harness race tracks, wholly or partly within the city limits.

Would Impose Tax

In another move, Republican Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson of Yonkers proposed that cities over 150,000 population be allowed to impose a two per cent tax on the total daily pari-mutuel pool at harness tracks.

The Tweed Commission, known formally as the temporary commission on courts, proposes that 18 semi-independent courts be reorganized into a single, centrally administered court system financed by one budget.

Williamson presided at a public hearing held by the Legislature's Judiciary Committee last week to determine sentiment on the commission proposals.

Presiding Justice David W. Peck of the Supreme Court's Appellate division argued vigorously for the separate family court. Other spokesmen urged that both the surrogate's and justice courts be retained.

Under the Tweed Commission plan, justice courts would be replaced by magistrate's courts or district courts. Williamson's bill would insure a district court for heavily populated Nassau county.

The commission bills have not been reported out of the judiciary committees. Constitutional amendments require passage by two separately elected Legislatures and approval of the voters. Influential judges have disagreed whether action is needed this year.

The Legislature could wait until next year, as any action it might take would need the approval of the new Legislature convening in 1959.

Other Bills Offered

Other bills would: Increase from 12 to 15 miles the maximum distance from United Nations headquarters that a member foreign delegation can have property to gain tax exemption (Assembly majority leader Joseph F. Carlino, R-Nassau county).

Prohibit private trade schools from being conducted as a subsidiary of, or in a commercial or industrial establishment (Sen. Earl W. Brydges, R-Niagara Falls).

Reduce from $1.75 to $1 the annual registration fee for a farm truck (Sen. E. Ogden Bush, R-Delancey).

Allow town boards in towns over 10,000 population to establish a department of public safety with a commissioner (Sen. William F. Condon, R-Yonkers).

Republic to Cut Force by 4,000

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Republic Aviation Corp. says it's dropping some 4,000 production workers from the payroll between March 1 and June 1 and may make a further reduction later.

The cutback was announced yesterday. The firm cited this reason: "Phasing-out" of manufacture of the F84F Thunderstreak fighter plane will occur some time before heavy production begins on its new F105 Thunderchief.

Production buildup of the Thunderchief, Republic said, will not reach full-scale production until "late next year."

In addition, Republic said, surveys are being made of all production facilities away from its main plant at suburban Farmingdale, N. Y., "to determine whether all or part of their floor space will be continued in operation." These include plants at Port Washington, Greenlawn, and Hicksville, all also on Long Island.

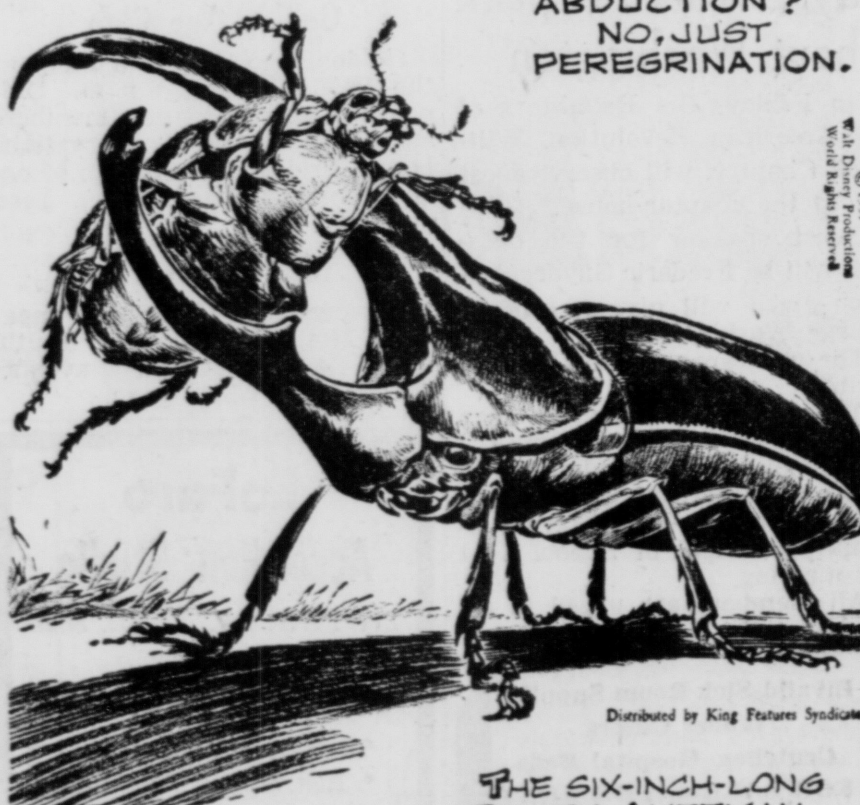

The surveys will not be completed for six months, the announcement said.

Nationalists Seen Still Master of Algeria Revolt

Algiers, Feb. 19 (AP)—Is the shadowy group directing the Algerian rebellion a truly nationalistic organization, or is it a Communist front waiting to turn Algeria into another Red satellite?

The answer appears to be that the Nationalists who started the revolt 27 months ago are still in the driver's seat. More and more Communists are climbing aboard.

This correspondent discussed the question with experts on the Algerian rebellion. These included high French government officials, foreign diplomats, professors, European residents of Algeria, and the few accessible Algerian intellectuals here who are close to the rebel organization.

Reds Associated

Official French documents based on intelligence reports state flatly: "Unquestionably, the Algerian Communist party is closely associated with the clandestine struggle."

The French say the ultimate goal of the Communists is the formation of a "popular democracy" in Algeria. The next step would be infiltration of Tunisia and Morocco and creation of not one but three new Soviet satellites.

Still Master

It seems clear that the National Liberation Front (FLN)—the dominant rebel organization—is still master in its own house. But the Communists are pounding on the door and catching the ear and probably the respect of FLN.

Resident Minister Robert Lacoste's principal spokesman, Michele Gorlin, said that so far as can be determined, the Communists are not directing FLN now. But he added:

"We know they are extremely active in the urban areas of Algeria and in the countryside, although on the latter we are less certain."

"It is clear that the Communists are busily trying to undermine the FLN leadership and take over its direction. But so far the FLN has been suspicious of the Communists' ultimate intentions and have not relinquished control."

Resisting Reds

Prof. Roger Latourneau, a political scientist at the University of Algiers and a top political advisor to Lacoste's administration, said that the FLN leadership is actively resisting Communist infiltration. But he added, FLN perhaps unwittingly, is apparently sinking into Marxism.

Latourneau said that an FLN document discovered in the Kabylie mountains east of Algiers "revealed some striking resemblances to Marxist doctrine."

On the other hand, a wealthy Moslem businessman in Algiers who freely admitted contributing to FLN scoffed at the suggestion it is being "communized."

Denounce Marxism

FLN, he said, will accept Communists in its ranks—but only if they denounce Marxism and declare in writing that they do not formally belong to any Communist party.

An FLN leader who has since fled Algeria said that "the Algerian rebellion is of Algerians, by Algerians, and for Algerians."

An American anthropologist, Cabot Briggs, who has been in close contact with Algerian communities and desert tribes claimed that the Communists still do not dominate FLN but are moving rapidly into key positions.

One French publication said the Algerian Communist Party (PCA) "seems to have been surprised by the insurrection of Nov. 1, 1954 (starting the rebellion)."

But very quickly, on orders of Moscow transmitted by the French Communist party and faithful to its doctrine of exploiting nationalism, the PCA oriented itself toward more and more extensive participation (in the rebellion)."

The French claimed to have established PCA complicity in a massacre of Aug. 20, 1955, in the northern part of the Constantine department, in which more than 430 North Africans and Europeans were killed. The party was banned and has gone underground.

In the final analysis, the important thing is who would form a new government should the Algerian rebellion succeed. If the rebels win, the French claim, the Communists would quickly switch tactics, blacken FLN leaders as "traitors to the popular cause" and take over.

Indians Get Time

Utica, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—The St. Regis Indian tribe has until Monday to challenge a court order authorizing government possession of 88 acres of their reservation. Federal Judge Stephen Brennan yesterday granted the U. S. government permission to take the land on behalf of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, a federal agency. The corporation sought the land in connection with the seaway project. The tribe was not represented in court. The Indians were given one week in which to move that the order be vacated.

Largest iron ore mine in the world, 1535 acres on top side, is at Hibbing, Minn.

Republican Women Hear Bank Official Discuss Savings Bill

At a regular meeting of the Ulster County Republican Women's Club held recently at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Herman W. Glanz, president of the New Paltz Savings Bank of New Paltz discussed branch banks for savings banks.

Mr. Glanz pointed out that the savings banks branch bill, now being considered in Albany, is important to the people in this state, since two out of three are depositors in mutual savings banks. These mutual institutions have no stockholders, they serve only their depositors and they have never failed to pay a dividend regularly since 1819, according to Mr. Glanz.

Referring to the good citizenship displayed by the savings banks, Mr. Glanz stated that the savings bank industry is the largest single investor in New York State properties, writing one third of all non-farm mortgages each year. They help elsewhere, too, through investments in Government bonds, State and Municipal bonds and corporate bonds and stocks. In addition to this, they pay $13 million each year in taxes, $4 million in real estate taxes, $6 million in state franchise taxes and almost $3 million in Federal income taxes.

To demonstrate the popularity of the savings banks, it was pointed out that over 38 per cent of all personal savings in New York State are kept in savings banks. However, the present law, which forbids a savings bank to establish a branch office outside the town or city in which its main office is located, discriminates against savings bank depositors because it subjects them to hardship and inconvenience in order to save at a savings bank.

Mr. Glanz said that the savings banks, in asking for the privilege of establishing branches, ask only for what every other bank has always had, the right to follow their customers into new communities and continue to serve them with convenient offices.

The promotion of thrift is one of the primary purposes of savings banks and they are proud of the results of this promotion among the school children in our state. Half of them save through the school savings programs of mutual savings banks and they have saved about $50 million. However, there are over a million children who cannot participate in the program because the savings banks are not allowed to operate in their areas. The promotion of thrift is beneficial to everyone and the savings banks point proudly to the fact that in areas where savings banks exist, the people save more money.

Mr. Glanz said that savings banks feel that the Banking Law should be revised to grant all the people of this state equal opportunity to select the type of savings institution they wish to use.

Hostesses were Mrs. Frank Strobel and Miss Janice Baker.

Ingrid Bergman, Dean Are Rated Best Bets for Top Awards for Movie Oscars

Hollywood, Feb. 19 (AP)—Ingrid Bergman, Hollywood's most famous exile, and James Dean, only person ever nominated twice in death, were rated today as the actress and actor to beat in the movie's annual race for Oscars.

And the movie "Giant" took a favored spot in the best film category as the smoke cleared from last night's announcement of the 29th annual Academy Award nominations.

Stiff Competition

Miss Bergman, absent eight years from the town where she gained her greatest fame, will have stiff competition in the top actress division from the following:

Carroll Baker of the controversial "Baby Doll"; Katharine Hepburn for "The Rainmaker"; Nancy Kelly for "The Bad Seed"; and Deborah Kerr for "The King and I."

Miss Bergman was nominated for her sensitive portrayal of the Russian princess in "Anastasia." Dean, nominated last year for the brooding adolescent of "East of Eden," got it this year for his first role as an adult—that of the millionaire oil wildcatter in "Giant."

He likewise will have exceptional stiff opposition in Yul Brynner ("King and I"); Kirk Douglas ("Lust for Life"); Rock Hudson ("Giant"); and Sir Laurence Olivier ("Richard III"). Dean's role in "Giant" was completed only days before his tragic death in a grinding auto crash.

Other Best Movies

Others in the best movie category—where an Oscar win means millions more at the box office—were "Around the World in 80 Days"; "Friendly Persuasion"; "The King and I"; and Cecil B. De Mille's "The Ten Commandments."

The nominations contained few surprises, save perhaps for the omission of Charlton Heston, Moses of "The Ten Commandments."

There had been some talk that the academy might vote a special award for Dean, long hailed as one of the most brilliant young actors in years. However, George Seaton, president of the academy, as voted by 16,721 members of the motion picture industry precludes any special award.

"Jimmy will run strictly on his merits as an actor, just as if he were still with us," Seaton said.

The nomination of Nancy Kelly was seen as a moral victory of sorts for the noted Broadway actress. She had not made a movie in 10 years until "The Bad Seed." Once a contract player here, her talents had

WAS HUSBAND RUDE?

A letter tells me: "One evening while my sister was visiting us I mentioned that my husband was going to get tickets for a certain play for the following week. She asked if he would get an extra ticket for her while he was going to the box office as she wanted to see that play. The only seats available for that particular evening was a double and a single seat three rows in front. When we arrived at the theater my husband and I took the double seats and my sister sat in the single one. Should my husband have offered to take the single seat and let her sit beside me? Was it rude to let her sit alone?"

Yes, I do think that your husband should have been the one to sit alone rather than a woman.

Flowers for Young Girl

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me what kind of flowers would be proper for a boy to send a fifteen-year-old girl who has invited him to go with her to her school dance? He wants to send her gardenias but I do not think they are appropriate for a young girl. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: Gardenias are sophisticated and not suitable for a very young girl who has not yet made her debut. Sweet peas or rose buds would be perfect for a young girl.

Must Woman Rise to Shake Hands

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it impolite for a woman to remain seated to shake hands? The other afternoon at a large cocktail party I was seated when a woman friend whom I had not seen for some time came over to greet me and held out her hand. I, of course, took it but remained seated. Was I wrong?

Answer: You were not wrong unless the one who came over to you was an elderly person and you a young one.

Program of Welsh Music Is Heard By Musical Society

The Musical Society of Kingston met for its February program at the home of Mrs. Amos Newcombe, Manor Lake. Mrs. Clarence Beehler Jr., and Mrs. Willard Burke had prepared an evening of Welsh music, which resembles in many ways the Scotch melodies studied last month.

Mrs. DeWeese DeWitt, Mrs. Beehler and Mrs. Burke traced the history of Wales from ancient times to the present, and described the musical traditions of the Welsh. Mrs. Beehler sang two folk-songs, "The Cloisters" and "April Maiden"; Mrs. Albert O. Sonnenberg sang the lullaby, "Hush Song" and then together they did "Beside the Winding River." Mrs. Burke was at the piano. Mrs. Keron O'Neil played "The Ash Grove," arranged by Clifford Shaw.

The whole Musical Society joined in singing several traditional Welsh songs, including "Men of Harlech."

Mrs. Lester Decker chose to illustrate the music of Welsh-American Alec Templeton. She played "As You Like it," and "Lavender Blue" from his suite, "Temperaments."

Hymn melodies, for which the Welsh are famous, were illustrated by Mrs. Sonnenberg and Mrs. Beehler. They selected "All Through the Night," the chorale "The Holy Lord of All," "Toney-Bote" to the tune "Ebenezer," and "Gwalchmai." A recording of the hymn "Cwm Rhondda" sung by John Charles Thomas concluded the program.

Mrs. John Snyder presided at the business meeting preceding the program.

Social hostesses were Mrs. Beehler and Mrs. Henry Millong. Mrs. Newcombe poured.

Democrats Say Harriman Is Pushing for Span-9W Link

Governor Averell Harriman has given assurance of immediate priority for completion of Route 199 joining the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge to 9W.

Two local Democratic party leaders said the governor told them Saturday in New York that he realizes the roadway is a "must."

Attorney William A. Kelly, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic party, and Ernest Heppner, Kingston member of the New York State Bridge Authority, had a special meeting with Governor Harriman while attending a fund raising dinner at the Waldorf Astoria.

Would Relieve Route 32

The two reported that the governor told them "I realize the need for the bridge approach road to handle the increased business and summer traffic."

"We have assurance there will be immediate priority for the route," the two said, "that will alleviate traffic conditions on the presently heavily traveled Route 32, between Kingston and the Flatbush entrance to the bridge."

Kelly, former county judge, was guest at the $100-a-plate dinner and received a warm welcome from Michael H. Prendergast, state Democratic chairman.

With Speakers

Prendergast shared the speakers' platform with Governor Harriman, Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York and Carmine G. DeSapio, Democratic national committeeman.

On the dais with Kelly were Lt. Governor George B. DeLuca, Comptroller Arthur Levitt and James A. Farley, former national committeeman and postmaster general under President F. D. Roosevelt.

Receives Welcome

Referring to Chairman Kelly, Prendergast said "We welcome you to our great corps of Democratic chairmen, and wish you success in Ulster county."

Kelly was recently elected to fill the chairmanship vacated by Attorney Thomas J. Plunket last November.

Other local Democrats at the event were U. Parker Decker, Highland, Democratic state committeeman; Bernard A. Culloton, a deputy in the Department of Taxation and Finance, Albany; Attorney Plunket and Raymond T. Schuler.

In his talk, Governor Harriman said Republican leaders in the state legislature are trying to take credit for Democratic proposals.

"They made a great discovery —that our Democratic programs are receiving wide popular support," an Associated Press story credited him as saying. "So, instead of fighting our Democratic proposals, they are fighting to take credit for them."

"All this makes me think we have done a pretty good job in the past two years," the story continued.

Harriman said his administration had doubled the value of contracts let for the new highway construction last year and plans to triple it this year.

He said, "I balanced the budget for the first time since the end of the war period, and what's more I've reduced taxes. They can never forgive in a Democrat. It's contrary to all their political mythology."

To Run Again

Mayor Wagner told the gathering that he found his job "as stimulating and as challenging as any in America."

Although he did not mention running again at the dinner, it was announced in the Herald Tribune Sunday that the Mayor had made up his mind to seek a second term.

Mrs. Lorenzen reportedly suffered lacerations of the eyes, cheeks, chin, abrasions of the nose and possible chest injuries.

Kingston state police are still investigating the accident, it was reported today.

Trooper Robert Chura reported that Delancy Lorenzen, 50, of New Paltz, was proceeding west on Route 32 in a 1952 sedan when a 1951 sedan, owner and operator unknown, traveling east in the wrong lane, skidded on icy pavement and struck the Lorenzen car in the left side.

Mr. Hurd was in the unknown vehicle, either as driver or passenger, it was reported.

RVA Will Meet Thursday Night

There will be an executive meeting of Ulster County Memorial Post and Auxiliary, Regular Veterans Association, Thursday Feb. 28 at 8 p. m. at the home of Commander George W. Nichols, Bloomington. All officers and members are requested to attend.

There will be an important panel discussion on a number of veteran benefit bills recently introduced in Congress. Among those will be to provide free postage to members of the armed forces. Both bills specify first class mail and provide free first class postage to both armed forces and sent by or to them. As these bills may be consolidated by committee on post office and Civil Service it is felt however that those now in service should be provided with free postage especially those overseas.

Also of particular interest to RVA by national convention mandate is a bill referred to committee on veterans affairs, to increase the monthly rate of pensions to widows and former widows of deceased Spanish War veterans including Boxer Rebellion and Philippine Insurrection. Since majority of these widows are 70 or more years in age, unemployable and without any social security it is felt that there could be little or no objection to raising their pensions to $75 monthly. Also to be discussed will be a bill which needs revision or repeal. Its main theme is elimination of veteran benefits and social security instead as set forth in the Bradley report.

Following the panel discussion the auxiliary will serve refreshments.

Seven Priests Arrested

Nicosia, Cyprus, Feb. 19 (AP)—Seven Greek Orthodox priests were arrested today as a result of the recent anti-Eoka drive in the Troodos Mountain area. Eoka is the Greek Cypriot underground fighting to end British rule and unite Cyprus with Greece. British authorities claimed important successes in their intensive campaign against Eoka groups in the Troodos regions. British authorities charged the priests sheltered extremists and were "actively engaged in the administration of village cells, as well as recruiting new members of Eoka."

Cats Galore

Sterling, Colo. (AP)—Bud Graham got more than he bargained for when he advertised that daughter Julie's cat was missing. A steady stream of people turned up at the Graham door, each wagging a cat for Julie.

Texas Gets Snow, Rain

Dallas, Feb. 19 (AP)—Snow fell in the Panhandle and rains continued to soak other areas of Texas today as the state enjoyed its fourth day of welcome precipitation. At Marfa, in drought-stricken west Texas, half an inch of rain fell early today, boosting the total in the past four days to 2½ inches. That's more than the area has ever received in the month of February according to weather observers. More scattered rains were forecast for the entire state.

Smart Animals

San Diego, Calif. (AP)—An elderly woman, making her annual purchase of seven horoscopes at $1 each, told the inquiring store clerk that they were for her three cats, two dogs and two parakeets.

Area Postmasters Schedule Meeting

A discussion of problems of interest to all postmasters will be held at the regular monthly meeting of Ulster County Postmaster's Association Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Civil Service room in the main post office.

Cold Beds Heuss

Bonn, Germany, Feb. 19 (AP)—West German President Theodor Heuss was in bed with a cold today. His staff said the 73-year-old president was expected to recover in time to leave March 6 for his planned state visit to the United States. A communique said there was no cause for worry.

Jewels, Furs Stolen

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Jewels and furs valued at $77,000 or more were stolen yesterday when burglars invaded an apartment house a few doors off Fifth avenue for the second time in five days. Police said most of the stolen valuables belonged to Mrs. Leona Diener Weitz of Cleveland, who was visiting in the apartment of her sister, Mrs. Rosalind Diener, who uses her maiden name. The Diener apartment (at 8 E. 62nd street) is on the third floor. Police said it showed no evidence of forced entry.

Department stores usually place their feminine wares on the left and masculine goods on the right. The reason is that women always turn left and men turn right. No one has been able to explain this.

Former Kingston Girl Managing Fla. Men's Shop

Miss Marilyn Caunitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Caunitz of 259 Smith avenue, has been appointed manager of the Martin-Burns men's shop in the Sunrise Shopping Center, Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The Freeman has learned.

Miss Caunitz, who was formerly associated with her father in the real estate business in Kingston as Walter H. Caunitz and Daughter, is the first woman appointed to a manager's position by the firm.

According to A. Mortimer Burns, president of the chain, the experience proved so successful that four of the 10 Martin-Burns Florida Gold Coast shops now have women shop managers.

Rapid Promotion

Several years ago Miss Caunitz moved to Fort Lauderdale to take a position as saleslady for the Martin-Burns chain. She is also assistant manager of the Martin-Burns Youth Shop, Fort Lauderdale. Her promotion followed rapidly.

She also travels as a buyer for the chain. Last fall during a seven-week visit to New York city for the stores she purchased one and a half million dollars' worth of merchandise, and in Miami another half a million dollars worth during the annual fashion show sponsored by national manufacturers and importers.

According to an article in the Daily News Record, national retail trade publication, for February 1, Miss Caunitz was so effective as manager that three other women were subsequently promoted from the ranks to positions as managers of shops in Palm Beach, Hollywood and downtown Lauderdale.

Keep Alert to Fashions

"We have found that our women managers show lots of initiative, are patient, thoroughly enjoy their work and appreciate their salaries, which are the same as we pay men managers," Mr. Burns was quoted as saying. "They are style conscious and keep alert to fashion trends in men's wear."

As to the reaction of men customers to a woman manager, Mr. Burns said they seem to appreciate her interest and assistance, even when it involves fitting clothing. However, he added, there is a staff of salesmen in each store so the woman-shy customer is well protected.

Attracts Wives

Many women visit the stores with their husbands, and Mr. Burns is of the opinion that the wives feel more at ease in a man's store that is supervised by a woman.

Each manager keeps the books and inventory control for her particular shop. In addition to this routine work, there are many ways in which the managers use their initiative, according to Mr. Burns.

"We give them free rein in expressing their ideas in relation to display and coordination," he said.

Eden Hit by Fever

London, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Press Assn. said today former Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden has suffered two attacks of fever on his sea voyage to New Zealand. Arrangements have been made for Sir Anthony to receive medical attention when he arrives in Auckland on Feb. 21, the Press Assn. said. Eden, 59, and his wife sailed for a holiday in New Zealand on Jan. 18, less than two weeks after he resigned as prime minister because of ill health.

Conant Leaves for Home

Bonn, Germany, Feb. 19 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador James B. Conant today left for the United States to return to private life. Representatives of the diplomatic corps and the West German government gave him a send off from Mehlem Railroad station near the U. S. embassy. David K. Bruce, a Democrat and former ambassador to France, has been proposed as Conant's successor.

Saugerties High crushed Highland High, 81-44, Monday afternoon to take temporary possession of first place in the Ulster County Athletic League.

The victory gave Coach Buddy Smith's basketball team a 9-1 record in the UCAL, with Rondout Valley at 8-1 for second place. The Sawyers have an exacting engagement Thursday night at Ontario Central. Rondout hosts winless New Paltz.

The Sawyers, heading for what appears to be an inevitable playoff with Rondout Valley, broke the game apart as early as the first period when they zoomed to a 20-8 lead. They held a 41-20 bulge at the intermission.

Kerin Scores 22

Austin Kerin led Saugerties with 22 points and three other starters hit in double figures, as Highland failed miserably to throw up the expected challenge against the Sawyers.

Bill Zielman canned 17 points, Don Whitaker hit 13 and Skip Kugelman 11. Every member of the Saugerties cast crashed the scoring column at least once.

Johnny Gersch and Dave Williams bucketed 12 points apiece for Highland.

Jayvees Cling To Slim Chance

Although mathematically still in the title picture, the Kingston High Jayvees' chances of overhauling undefeated Newburgh Free Academy in the unofficial DUSO League race are all but over.

The junior Maroons trail the pace-setter by two full games and like NFA have three games left to play. Overall Kingston is 12-3, while the Goldbacks are 14-0 (13-0 in loop competition).

Only three other clubs are playing .500 ball or better. Third place Poughkeepsie is 8-4. Middletown 7-5 and Liberty 6-6.

Howe Takes Over Scoring Lead

Montreal, Feb. 19 (AP)—A three-game scoring spree has hustled Detroit's veteran Gordie Howe past defending champion Jean Beliveau of Montreal into the individual point lead in the National Hockey League.

Four goals and three assists, a total of seven points boosted Howe's season total to 71. Beliveau, picking up only one goal during last week's games, tumbled to third with 67 points as Ted Lindsay, the other half of Detroit's scoring punch, followed on Howe's shorthill to take second with 69.

Yale and Princeton began their basketball rivalry in 1902, with the Eli beating the Tiger, 26-20.

Intersectional Tourney Starts March 8 at Troy

Newburgh Free Academy has already nailed down the No. 1 berth in Section Nine. The runner-up spot will go either to Kingston High or Middletown High depending on the better final DUSO League record.

The same situation exists in Section Two where Albany High has clinched the top slot. Nott Terrace, defending champions,

NBA Can't Match Wilt's College 'Salary'

So Says Brown, Celtic Prexy In New Rhubarb

Boston, Feb. 19 (AP)—Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, fabulous Kansas University sophomore, already is the center of a controversy about his professional basketball future.

Walter Brown, president of the Boston Celtics, said yesterday that no National Basketball Assn. team could pay Chamberlain "what he gets to go to college" and said "he shouldn't be allowed to play in the NBA."

"He has proselytized himself to stay in college and no NBA team could possibly pay him what he gets to go to college," Brown added. "The colleges don't have the guts to disqualify him."

"It's a travesty on college ball and the sanctimonious NCAA should be ashamed for permitting the boy to play at Kansas."

"I have no definite proof what might be the figure, but it is a matter of fact no one in the NBA can afford to pay Chamberlain what he gets at Kansas."

Warriors Own Him

Chamberlain, the 7-foot center was awarded to the Philadelphia Warriors by a 7-1 vote of the NBA board of directors upon his graduation from Overbrook High School in Philadelphia. The dissenting vote did not belong to Boston but to New York.

As for NBA salary, Boston's Bob Cousy is the highest paid at an estimated $22,000 per year.

"The NBA should take steps immediately to bar him (Chamberlain) from playing," was Brown's conclusion.

From Philadelphia, Warrior owner Eddie Gottlieb replied: "It's not even worth commenting on. We're pros, we're not concerned with how Chamberlain got into college."

NBA president Maurice Podoloff had "no comment" in New York.

Panthers Rip Dorans, 76-21

German Welter Beats DeMarco

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Stefan Redi, an unbeaten welter of German-Hungarian background, has moved into the main-event class with a victory over Paddy DeMarco, former lightweight champ.

Redi, born in Hungary but raised in Stuttgart, Germany, came to America a year ago. He gave up his career as a carpenter to devote his time to a ring career. Between bouts he loads trucks for a Passaic, N. J. firm.

The import, winner of 12 straight, went 10 rounds for the first time last night at St. Nicholas Arena. He won going away on a unanimous ballot.

Referee Larry Napp scored it 8-1-1. Judge Joe Eppy 7-3 and Judge Frank Fullam 6-4. The AP card was 8-2 for Redi, who weighed 142 to DeMarco's 144½ pounds.

DeMarco was warned repeatedly for holding, wrestling and general billygoat tactics. Redi also was cautioned for throwing Paddy into a neutral corner.

Intersectional Tourney Starts March 8 at Troy

Intersectional basketball tournament matching teams from Section Nine and Two will open March 8 at Kate Walton field house simultaneously.

Newburgh Free Academy has already nailed down the No. 1 berth in Section Nine. The runner-up spot will go either to Kingston High or Middletown High depending on the better final DUSO League record.

The same situation exists in Section Two where Albany High has clinched the top slot. Nott Terrace, defending champions, and Mont Pleasant are vying for the other berth. Both hail from Schenectady.

Kingston vs. Albany?

Pairings—Albany against Kingston or Middletown here and Newburgh versus Nott Terrace or Mont Pleasant at Troy.

The finals are set for March 15. If the two upstate teams win, the title game will be in Troy with no consolation affair. The same type of schedule goes if the two Section Nine quintets triumph.

In case of a split, the finals will be held here at 9 p. m., preceded by a consolation game.

FRAME UP—A Philadelphia Phillie rookie batter, waiting for the next pitch, framed Granny Hamner's windup in a diamond of arms and bat. Hamner is trying to make the switch from infielder to pitcher.

KHS Intramural Grapplers Meet Otisville Wednesday

Kingston High's intramural wrestling team, under the direction of Ken Brown, makes its season's bow Wednesday at the field house against the Otisville Training School for Boys. First match is slated for 3:30 p. m.

The squad is headed by six holdovers, including Marv (Moose) Shaub, All-DUSO line man on last year's unbeaten Maroon grid team. The other experienced matmen include Bob Barnett, Dave Beehler, Bob Witthall, Fred Wheeler and Pete Stroble.

Rounding out the squad are Richard Eckert, Herman Myers, Charles Wells, Bob Lambert, Bob Wilhall, Ed Van Riehl, Jim Avery, Jack Ruebel, Ronald Dietz, John Maxwell.

Shaub and Stroble will wrestle in the unlimited class, Witthall and Wheeler in the 148 pound class, Van Riehl, Avery and Ruebel in 157, Dietz in 168, Maxwell in 178, Beehler and Lambert in 141, Wells in 136, Barnett in 130, Myers in 115 and Eckert in 98.

The match is sort of a tuneup for the Rockland county interscholastic tournament to be held March 2. In last year's tourney, Shaub, Wheeler and Beehler took third places in their respective weight divisions.

Father and Son Disagree on Big Ed's Status

Cheshire, Conn., Feb. 19 (AP)—Former Chicago White Sox pitcher Big Ed Walsh, seriously ill with arthritis at 74, says he can't afford the postage to answer autograph requests, but his son says his father is not in financial distress.

Walsh, a former Pennsylvania coal miner whose fast ball swept him to baseball glory 50 years ago, reluctantly confessed his plight to newsmen who visited him last week.

He expressed some bitterness about the failure of today's "high salaried" baseball players to do something about including the oldtimers in their pension plans.

"I wasn't there when my father was interviewed last week by newspapermen," said Robert Walsh last night, so he didn't know if his father had said he was in no position to buy postage stamps.

But young Walsh said his father certainly didn't mean to imply he needed help.

Walsh said his father gets a $900 pension from the City of Meriden as a result of 15 years as caretaker of a filtration plant, another $50 a month from the Old-Timers Baseball Players Assn., and about $100 a month from social security.

Furthermore, asserted young Walsh, his father "is receiving the best of medical care."

The Maroons have a chance to climb to .500 for the first time since early in the campaign. They stand 6-7 and a half game out of sixth place. Monticello is 1-12 and last.

Glasco Returns To First Place In Dartball

The Glasco A's with a three game sweep of Mt. Marion Monday night returned to first place in Saugerties Dartball League, leading second place West Camp by one-half game.

West Camp defeated Centerville 3 to 0 and moved into second place. Quarryville, the league leader for the past three weeks lost three to Glasco AC and dropped into third place.

Hudson Valley League Claims 5 Teams; Rates Saugerties As 'Likely Prospect'

But Rivenberg Says He Likes The NY-NJ Loop

Supporters of the proposed Hudson Valley baseball league continued today to claim Saugerties as a "likely prospect" for the 1957 season, although the Dutchmen were not represented at Sunday's meeting in Newburgh.

Sal Ciccio of Newburgh, who is heading the Hudson Valley movement, grouped the Dutchmen with Ossining and Haverstraw as most likely to join with five teams already committed to the league.

The teams are Spring Valley, Beacon, Staatsburg, Newburgh and Poughkeepsie.

Meanwhile, Manager Jack Rivenberg of Saugerties, in a statement to The Freeman sports department, said he personally favored staying in the New York-Jersey League.

Final Decision Pending
Rivenberg admitted, however, that Saugerties had not reached a final decision on its league commitments for 1957.

"I'm personally inclined to stay in the New York-Jersey League," said Rivenberg, "but the matter is not yet settled. There are a couple of factors that will have to be resolved to our satisfaction between Saugerties and a final decision."

Although Rivenberg did not spell out the "factors," it is believed that the matter of suitable playing hours and traveling conditions is one of them.

Territorial Rights
More important, however, seems to be Saugerties' insistence that the NY-NJ circuit liberalize its present territorial restrictions on player rights. At present the Dutchmen are restricted to players residing within the township of Saugerties.

League observers believe that if Saugerties eventually leaves the league it will be because of their aversion to the present regulations. The Dutchmen claim that, because of the proximity of Saugerties to Kingston, Ulster county should be declared open.

The Hudson Valley circuit introduced a tentative set of league rules and by-laws at Sunday's meeting. League officers will be elected at the next meeting, Sunday, March 10, at 2 p. m. at Spring Valley.

Seek Other Cities
Although league proponents decided definitely to proceed with a minimum of four teams, the membership was not closed to cities that have shown interest in the Hudson Valley circuit will be given time to make a decision.

Baseball interests in Walden also will be contacted with the hopes that another team from Orange county may be included in the league.

Pre-Season Pay For Gridders Skirted by Bell
Philadelphia, Feb. 18 (AP)—Commissioner Bert Bell says that if the National Football League players want pay for pre-season games they should negotiate in their individual contracts.

"When a player negotiates his contract for a given season, let him tell the owner he wants so much for the 12 regular season games and an additional amount for pre-season games," Bell said.

The debate over pay for exhibition games is one of the highlights of the current rubb between players and owners and is one of the principal objectives of the Players' Association. Bell said that "like baseball," he contract for an entire season of football. That includes pre-season games.

CAGE QUIZ
By NEIL JOHNSTON
Written for NEA Service
Question: The defensive team, trailing, scraps for the ball and the referee declares a jump. There are only four seconds left. Does the clock keep running during the jump?—John Gibbons.

Answer: No. And it does not start until the ball has been touched by one of the players jumping for it.

Arizin, Johnston Threaten Pettit

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—With Bob Pettit's arm in a cast a National Basketball Assn. scoring record seems out of the question, and Philadelphia's Paul Arizin and Neil Johnston appear ready to cut off a bid for a second straight title by the St. Louis scoring whiz.

Pettit, the 6-9 former All-America who looked to be in position to topple George Mikan's one-season record of 1,932 points, suffered a fracture against Boston last Friday, seriously reducing his scoring potential.

He had averaged 30.7 points a game through his previous 21 starts until Sunday—when, with the cast on his arm, he played only 2 minutes and was scoreless.

Pettit still tops the scoring list with 1,626 points and 28.1 average with 14 games remaining—but Arizin is right behind with 1,486 and a 25.2 average. Then comes Johnston at 1,418 and 24.0. Both Warriors have one less game remaining than Pettit.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

BY WARREN PAGE
Shooting Editor
At a rod and gun club dinner the other night, we got tangled in that old debate about what's good and what's bad about the assorted deer rifles and calibers. It dragged on for quite some time, until one gent rose from his chair and pronounced: "The right rifle for a deer hunter depends entirely on the way he hunts."

There's considerable in what this character said. I have a friend who hunts mule deer on the edges of the Red Desert country in Wyoming. His method, though not peculiar to himself, is dictated largely by a bad leg, game since WWII.

He Kills Deer
He climbs slowly up onto a little mesa or butte, or gets out onto a rimrock point, and stays sitting there all day keeping his binoculars going. And he kills deer. Almost always at long range—so his equipment is a Biesen-made .25-'06, an ultra-flat-shooting wildcat, and a six-power scope.

His equipment is dictated by his technique. Given an iron-sighted .30-30 lever gun, which so many deer hunters affect, and with that out-of-door gear he wouldn't bag a buck a millennium. Contrariwise, the whitetail hunter whose method calls for busting through the timber with gay abandon, moving fast just because he's the sort of personality that can't be quiet, can't stand still, is going to keep himself happy with the iron-sighted .30-30. He's going to see nothing but running deer anyway, get nothing but snapshots at tails disappearing beyond the wind-falls so he might as well carry a handily light rifle.

Fast Shooter Best
He'd be some better off with a fast shooter in .35 Remington, or .358 or whatever, just because of the greater punch, considerably greater knockdown punch than the old .30-30 can deliver; but he certainly doesn't need a tack-driver.

Some woods hunters work like our Wyoming friend. They sit and look and listen, often get cracks at standing or slow-moving deer that don't know they're in the world. This brethren really drag 'em out of the whitetail counties. They can use bolt action rifles rigged with a 4X scope, in almost any caliber from the 6 mm. on up through .30-06 and kill surely. They'll be able to place the shot, not a 400 yards like our Western chum, but at 100 or better through holes in the timber, and do it neatly with equipment right for the method.

Ferris to Decide Hall's AAU Status

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Dan Ferris, National AAU secretary, is to decide who Army Lt. Al Hall will represent in the National AAU track and field championships Saturday at Madison Square Garden.

Hall, an Olympic shot-putter who once wore the colors of Cornell University, is scheduled to represent three organizations—the New York Athletic Club, the Boston Army base and Ft. Lee, Va.

Regulations permit an Army athlete to represent a civilian organization. Hall now is stationed at the Boston base but is due for a transfer to Ft. Lee.

When he heard of the impending transfer, the Ft. Lee coach promptly submitted Hall's name as a representative, sources explained yesterday.

Charlie Getz is a personable young man entrusted with the soul-searching responsibility of trying to arouse public interest in the New York Giants (baseball).

Charlie visited Kingston last week to address a hard core of Giant fanatics and promptly discovered that Kingston baseball fans are like those in any other city. They resent being pushed around by the ticket office.

It came as an unexpected shock to a calloused Yankee rooster when Bob Tierney, one of the most noble Giant roosters assailed the Scout ticket office for what he called "inequalities and favoritism" in the matter of World Series tickets.

Let's hasten to add that the Giants are not the only major league club guilty of that practice. You know, Joe Dunk from Podunk buys one of those block arrangements for the season. He expects to get a fair shake when World Series times rolls around, but does he? He strolls past his regular location and finds it populated with business tycoons, theatrical people, politicians and Dunk does a slow burn . . . but come next spring he reverts to form and orders another block arrangement.

One practical result of the Giant Night might be the setting up of a Giant ticket office in Kingston. A couple of local business men are reported interested in the deal. If that happens, Charlie Getz will feel rewarded for all the verbal gas he endured a few nights ago.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Coach Sam Kallach of Poughkeepsie High, who is embroiled in disputes with several Hudson valley referees, insists on having veto power on any assignment by the commissioner's office for any Poughkeepsie game. Doesn't that make the commissioner nothing more than a mere rubber stamp? The 1956-57 basketball season will be recorded as the season of the Greath Rhubarbs. The dilemma can be resolved only by giving the commissioner's office final and absolute authority on assignments. The commissioner's office equivocates when it grants coaches veto power and when it permits its officials corp to be classified at A, preferred; B, acceptable and C, not preferred. In effect, it sets up first, second and third class citizens. We are reminded poignantly of the old theory that when an official receives his license he is as fully qualified as any other official in the organization.

Of Men and Mice:

Kingston keglers are hailing the entry of Andy Varipapa, the trick shot artist, into bowling's Hall of Fame. The Hempstead, L. I. tenpin immortal has been a friend of Kingston bowling since 1934, when he rolled his first exhibition here. A two-time National Match Game champion, who narrowly missed a third straight crown, he demonstrated Saturday afternoon he is far from finished. Competing on TV's Championship Bowling, the 65-year-old Varipapa rolled from a split-infested opener to check Steve Nagy's five-week winning streak, 692 to 656. Varipapa posted games of 191-253-248 to Nagy's 206-246-204. Nagy was checked within breathing distance of the $5000 winner's circle. Next week Varipapa goes against Buzz Fazio of Detroit. . . . Dan Morehouse of Kingston is an accredited National Safety Patrol System patrolman. . . . Rochester's new War Memorial Auditorium is a breathtaking architectural masterpiece. . . . 8500 seats without a grid, or post in the house. But the Rochester Royals of the NBA are starving with an average attendance of 2,000 while the town is going crazy over amateur hockey, which has attracted a 7,000-average in the last three games.

First Time It Happened

Chamberlain Fouls Out; Scores Low Total of 11

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Kansas wasn't beaten, but something just as startling happened in college basketball last night, Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, fouling out for the first time in his career, scored only 11 points.

Kansas had no need for the big guy's usual scoring punch in breezing past Oklahoma 76-56, but the fifth personal foul against Wilt—with nine minutes to play—not only junked his chance to jump into the nation's scoring lead, but also dropped him from second to fifth in the race.

The Sooners, last in the Big Seven, had no particular defense for Chamberlain. Wilt beat himself while Kansas, again No. 2 behind unbeaten North Carolina in today's Associated Press poll, padded its record to 17-1.

Always overly cautious when charged with fouls, Chamberlain appeared upset after the first two and scored only four points in the first half. He sank only three of his 12 shots from the field for the night while winding up with a 29.00 average and the lowest point total of his young college career.

Wallace Leads Nation
Grady Wallace of South Carolina holds the scoring lead with a 30.57 average. Chet Forte moved from third to second with 29.56. Joe Gibbon scored 34 points in a losing SEC cause as Florida beat Mississippi 92-81 and took third with a 29.38 average. Elgin Baylor of Seattle—scoring 40 points as the fourth-ranked Chiefs took Gonzaga 99-

87—was fourth ahead of Chamberlain with 29.13.

North Carolina (20-0), idle last night, meets North Carolina State tonight with a chance to clinch first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The victory gave Kansas a 7-1 record atop the Big Seven race, but Kansas State, a newcomer to the national rankings at No. 17, stayed a close runner-up with an 81-56 victory over Nebraska for a 6-2 mark. The two leaders meet at K-State March 6.

Kentucky Opens Gap
None of the other conference races changed much, although third-ranked Kentucky opened up some breathing space in pursuit of an unprecedented 17th Southeastern title by holding off Vanderbilt 80-78. Vandy, moving back into the AP top 10 at No. 10, trailed by 17 at the half. The loss dropped Vandy out of the runner-up spot, which was snared by Auburn in a 78-54 decision over Tulane.

Kentucky now is 9-2, Auburn 8-3 and Vandy 8-4 in the SEC. Mississippi State, which upset Kentucky a week ago, is fourth at 7-4 after beating Georgia 86-73 as soph Bailey Howell scored 31. Alabama defeated LSU 82-70. Indiana retained its one-game edge in the Big 10 by blasting defending champ Iowa 90-76 with Archie Dees, the conference scoring leader, hitting for 37 points, his high for the season. Michigan State joined idle Ohio State in second place by whipping Illinois 89-83—the Spartans' seventh conference victory in a row. Purdue duffed Michigan's hopes 66-63. Minnesota retained an outside chance by crushing Wisconsin 85-53.

In the Missouri Valley race, where a home court is everything, Bradley kept the jinx intact by trimming third place Wichita 78-72.

Whitey Skoog Shelved
Minneapolis, Feb. 19 (AP)—Whitey Skoog, veteran Minneapolis guard, will play no more basketball this season. Team physicians told Skoog no further attempt to play would aggravate the back injury which has kept the former University of Minnesota star sidelined for his team's last 36 games. Skoog has not played since Dec. 12. The injury was diagnosed as a disc and spine irritation which causes pressure on the spinal nerve.

Sports Bulletin

Kansas City, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics sent pitchers Bobby Shantz and Art Ditmar to the New York Yankees today in a 13 player deal.

Along with the two top hurlers, the A's traded infielders Cletis Boyer and Wayne Belardi, pitcher Jack McMahan and a player to be named later.

In return Kansas City obtained pitchers Tom Morgan, Mickey McDermott and Rip Coleman; infielders Billy Hunter and Milt Graff; and outfielder Irv Noren, plus a young player to be agreed upon by the two clubs.

The announcement was released in Kansas City at a news conference at Municipal Stadium.

The trade, biggest made by the Athletics since going to Kansas City, was made in two parts. Belardi, McMahan and the player to be named, went to the Yankees' Denver club in the American Assn. The balance of the deal was a straight transaction between the two American League clubs.

Rated "Important"

President Arnold Johnson of the A's declared it "the most important deal since the Athletics were transferred to Kansas City."

He said the move "changes the entire complexion of the Athletics," giving the club a badly needed second baseman a colorful shortstop who will contest Joe Mazaestri for that post, and adds to the pitching staff where strength has been lacking.

The A's mound staff has been woefully inadequate. To get the three Yankee moundsmen, the A's gave up one proven pitcher in Ditmar, and a perennial questionmark in Shantz, plagued for three years by a bad arm, back and other injuries.

McDermott, 29, came up through the Boston Red Sox organization, went to Washington in a 1953 trade, and was acquired by New York in 1956. He was used sparingly by the Yankees last season and compiled a 2-6 record with a 4.24 earned run average. His best major league year was 1953 when he won 18 and lost 10 for Boston.

Chisox Sign Minnie Minoso

Chicago, Feb. 18 (AP)—Charles Comiskey, White Sox vice-president, announced Minnie Minoso, Sox outfielder, agreed today to play with the club during the coming season.

His salary will exceed the $32,500 Minoso was paid last season, Comiskey said. He is the 33rd Sox to come to terms, leaving seven unsigned.

Minoso, who will be playing his seventh year with the Sox, led the club in hitting in 1957 with a .316 average. His lifetime major league average is .306.

Berlin Escapee
Now in Air Force,
Completes Basic

RICHARD DOBE

Airman Richard Dobe, 22, who late last year came 5,000 miles from West Berlin, Germany, to enlist in the U. S. Air Force, has completed the first phase of military training at the "Gateway of the Air Force," Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Tex.

Young Dobe, a tall, blonde five-language youth, who escaped from the Communist sector of East Berlin in 1954 by use of a false passport, came to this country as the ward of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Halwick of Lake Katrine.

Special Training

The youth has qualified for specialized technical training and will be assigned to Scott AFB, Ill., according to a release from Lackland AFB. He will study to become a personnel classification specialist.

According to Sgt. Larry Snyder, local recruiting officer, young Dobe may enter the intelligence field when he receives his citizenship papers. After three years in the Air Force he automatically becomes an American citizen.

He succeeded in coming to America through the intercession of the Lutheran Refugee Service and the Halwicks.

Dobe told a Freeman reporter in an interview in early December that he would like to become an Air Force pilot and officer. He said his friends in West Berlin greatly envied him when arrangements were made for him to come to America.

Crowd is Sought
For Mt. Marion,
Ruby Discussion

A telephone campaign to secure a large attendance at a public meeting to discuss the purchase of approximately $30,000 worth of fire fighting equipment for Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire District Wednesday night is underway, a spokesman for the district told The Freeman today.

The meeting to be held at Mt. Marion Inn at 7:30 p. m. will hear a proposal to float a bond issue of approximately $30,000 for the purchase of two new fire trucks to replace two surplus Army fire trucks, the original equipment of the fire company since it organized in 1947.

Halcyon Park Active

Residents in the Halcyon Park development in Ruby are campaigning by phone to bring out a large attendance, the spokesman said. "We assume the Mt. Marion Park Association representing the residents in that development are also campaigning for a large crowd," he said.

The initial discussions will center on the purchase of two pump trucks, one for Mt. Marion and another for Ruby fire station, according to Henry Snyder, chairman of Mt. Marion-Ruby fire commissioners.

Some months ago the volunteers of Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire Company made a public statement deploring the condition of the equipment of the district and seeking support of the residents to take action in purchasing new equipment.

Issue at Election

The present equipment and moves to secure new equipment was an issue at a recent election of a new fire commissioner. George Becker, newly elected commissioner of Mt. Marion defeated Charles Maxfield, also of Mt. Marion.

Mr. Becker ran on a platform advocating the purchase of new equipment.

Other members of the board of fire commissioners are Thomas Kolb, David Scheffel and Carl

Icy Air Moves Into Mid-U. S.

Northerly winds blew fresh Arctic air into wide portions of the mid-continent today while fairly mild weather prevailed in most of the eastern areas.

There was widespread precipitation in many parts of the southern half of the country.

The icy air from Canada moved southward and extended over the upper and middle Mississippi Valley and parts of the western Great Lakes region. Temperatures were as much as 20 degrees lower than 24 hours ago as far south as southwestern Missouri.

Minnesota and northern Wisconsin were the coldest spots, with readings below zero in many sections. It was -11 at International Falls, Minn. The cold air seeped into Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle, and was expected to move eastward along the northern borders of states adjacent to the gulf during the day.

Mental Clinics

and criminal institutions. "This is poor business."

He said that Dutchess county had had the same problems facing Ulster county and that local supporters of the movement must "be patient with those who do not understand."

He said the chairman of the Dutchess County Committee on Mental Health was a member of the board of supervisors of that county and that there was "no more devoted servant."

Urges Perseverance

He pointed out that it was not easy for even sincere people to understand the importance of a mental health program but that he felt confident if Ulster county persevered it could "go ahead" in the mental health field.

Mr. McWharther described the operation of the mental health clinic, pointing out that it was "all-purpose"—that is, it considered all types of personality problems in all age groups. It serves those with incomes up to $6,000 a year, except in certain cases in which contributory factors indicate hardship, feeling that, in general, those with larger incomes could seek private psychiatric help.

Serves Up to 700

Since the opening of the clinic in 1953 it has served between 600 and 700 people—about 70 per cent adults and 30 per cent children, predominantly from Poughkeepsie, Beacon and outlying areas. He pointed out that about 35 new applications are received each month.

Sources of referral to the clinic are roughly as follows: Private physicians, 43 to 45 per cent; social agencies, 18 per cent; schools, five per cent, and the remainder by clergy and other groups in the community.

Cost Is $40,000

Cost of the clinic operation in Dutchess county is $40,000 a year, half of which is paid by the state. A number of area psychologists and psychiatrists assist on an hourly fee basis. The clinic has a full-time psychiatric social worker, a half-time psychiatrist and a small clerical staff. A thorough study is made of each applicant.

It was explained during the question-and-answer period that the fee schedule of the patients was based on ability to pay. The visiting speakers explained that most people want to pay something toward the cost of treatment.

Officials Present

Present at the meeting were Charles Relyea, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, Supervisor Peter Williams, chairman of the public health committee of the board, Jesse McHugh, Republican floor leader of the board, and Alderman-at-Large John J. Schwenk of the Kingston Common Council.

George Johnson, chairman of the Council of Social Agencies,

presided and introduced the speakers.

Two Children Hurt As Car Stops Quickly

Two children, one a four-month-old infant, suffered bruises when their father slammed on brakes to avoid hitting two bales of insulation material which fell from a truck ahead of his car about 2:15 p. m. Monday on Route 209 a half mile south of Wawarsing.

Peter Costa, 31, of 26 Grand street, was the driver of the car. He was accompanied by his wife.

Ellenville state police said the two children, Christopher, four months, and Craig, 18 months, were on the back seat. They were thrown against the front seat, it was reported.

Neither Mr. or Mrs. Costa was injured, troopers said.

The bales fell from a 1956 truck owned by Dunham Lumber Co. of Shandaken, operated by Alonzo Van Wagner, 31, of Shandaken, according to troopers.

Ellenville Man

two counts were dismissed.

Joe Graham, 53, Milton, who had entered a plea of guilty to assault, second degree, was sentenced to a term of from 2½ to 5 years at hard labor in Clinton State Prison on his plea of guilty.

He was the same man who on April 13, 1951, in Union, Florida, had been given an eight year prison sentence for manslaughter. He faced the court Monday as a second offender. Bernard Feeney appeared by assignment for defendant. Graham was given credit on his prison sentence for the time he has served in jail.

Robert Jay Cossano, 20, New Paltz, entered a plea of guilty to a technical violation of Section 1897, Sub. 4, of the Penal Law, illegal possession of a firearm.

Robert Harp appeared for defendant. Judge Bruhn suspended imposition of any sentence during good behavior.

The grand larceny, first degree, charge against Donald C. Putnam was moved over to April 25 by Sheriff Davis, counsel for defendant.

The Leonard A. Harrison, grand larceny, first degree, case was moved over to next Monday as counsel for defense was engaged in trial in Orange county.

District Attorney Howard C. St. John moved for trial the Cera Skuhra case, a charge of violating the ABC law. Charles Saccaman appears for defendant.

3-Day Camping Trip Held by Troop 11

A three-day camping trip in the vicinity of Zena was recently held by members of Boy Scout Troop 11, sponsored by the St. James Methodist Church, under the leadership of assistant Scoutmaster Jon C. O'Bryon.

Saturday's program included an all-day hike, ending with a campfire during the evening hours. On Sunday, the Rev. K. N. Alexander, minister of the St. James Church, visited the encampment and conducted a worship service for the scouts.

During the weekend Scouts William Yates, Robert Drake, John Davies, and Gregory Furman completed all outdoor requirements for First Class rank. Scouts Robert Reynolds, Robert Baker, Harry Tritwiler and James Wallace completed Second Class outdoor requirements. Scout Kenneth Yates attained the cooking merit badge.

George Johnson, chairman of the Council of Social Agencies,

presided and introduced the speakers.

Amend Saugerties Zoning Ordinance

An amendment to the Saugerties village zoning ordinance permitting construction in the village on lots under 60 foot frontage as outlined in section six was approved by the village board of trustees following a public hearing on the matter Monday night in the Municipal building.

Section six of the zoning law originally prohibited construction of any structure on a lot with less than 60 foot frontage. The amendment which was approved by a 5 to 2 vote of the board in January would permit construction on a lot less than the minimum if the lot so designated existed prior to the adoption of the zoning order.

Other Provisions Unchanged

According to Mayor Arthur F. Simmons, all other parts of section six must be adhered to by those planning buildings in the village.

The need for amending the zoning order was motivated by legal action taken by Louis P. Francello, local attorney representing Angelo Provenzano. Mr. Provenzano purchased a piece of land along the south side of Esopus Creek bridge at the western entrance. After demolishing an old building, he planned to construct a new home. The zoning order prohibited him from building as the property had only a 30 foot frontage.

Francello had said he would seek a declaratory judgment from New York Supreme Court ruling the entire ordinance ineffective because of the restrictions of Section 6, Article 5.

Small Trailer Hit, Auto Continues On

A small trailer attached to a 1951 tow car owned by Central Hudson was struck by a hit-run car about 9:50 p. m. Monday on Route 9W near the Saugerties village line, blowing out a tire on the trailer and damaging a fender.

Kingston state police reported that the car, described as a dark sedan of an older model, skidded across the road into a gas station after hitting the trailer.

The Central Hudson car and trailer was parked on the east side of the road with its red lights turned on, according to Trooper Robert Chura who is investigating.

The Central Hudson crew was installing new lamp lights along the highway. Operator of the utility car was Sterling S. Jansen, 36, of High Falls.

Simmons to Run

Division and saw service in Guam. After his discharge in 1947 he became associate broker with the John A. Sauer Real Estate Agency. He was elected town assessor in 1947 and served as chairman of the Citizen's Protective Party until 1955 when he was nominated mayoralty candidate for the first time.

Defeated Holmes

In 1955 Simmons defeated incumbent Mayor George P. Holmes of the Independent Party by 41 votes. A new record for voting was established in the village at that time when 1,604 votes were cast.

Sheldon Longendyke, chairman of the Independent Party told the Freeman that the Independent Party has not as yet made a choice. Mr. Holmes the titular head of the party is vacationing in Florida.

To Aid in Assessing

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—An advisory state committee recommends creation of boards of real-estate tax assessment and review in all towns, villages and cities of the state except New York city. The proposal was one of several submitted yesterday in the legislature under the sponsorship of the Assessment Advisory Committee of the State Equalization Board. Former Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore, chairman of the committee and the board, said the sweeping legislation was designed to help local governments do a better job of assessing real estate.
